

SHELTER BILL OK'D

—ELECT VENEZUELAN—

U. N. Opened In Hope, Harmony

United Nations, N.Y. (P) — Against a backdrop of initial contact between top U.S. and Soviet representatives, the U.N. General Assembly opened its 18th session Tuesday in an atmosphere of hope and harmony.

The assembly elected as president Carlos Sosa-Rodriguez, 51, a lawyer-diplomat from Venezuela, and he immediately proclaimed the assembly one of hope for mankind.

Before the session opened U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and his chief aides paid a 75-minute call on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko at the Soviet U.N. Mission in Manhattan.

Issues

U.S. sources said issues pending before the assembly were discussed. Stevenson expressed hope afterward that cold war matters would be set aside during the assembly. He felt Gromyko shared the hope.

The Stevenson-Gromyko meeting was a curtain raiser for talks between Gromyko, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home possibly late next week. These will cover further disarmament measures, Germany and problems in Asia.

Rusk will arrive in New York Saturday and Lord Home next Wednesday.

The note of hope was sounded by Sosa-Rodriguez in his inaugural address.

Fortunately

"Fortunately," he told the delegates seated in the vast blue and gold assembly hall, "this session opens in an auspicious atmosphere." He declared that international tension had been reduced by the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow and added:

"In all parts of the world, men's fears are replaced by hope."

He received 99 votes in the secret ballot. The other 11 votes were abstentions, cast apparently by the Soviet Bloc nations and Cuba.

Only 110 votes were cast in the 111-nation assembly. The Nepalese delegation arrived in the hall too late to vote.

There was only one jarring

note in the assembly opening. Indonesian Ambassador Lambertus N. Palar expressed reservation to the seating of the delegation representing the new nation of Malaysia. The Federation of Malaya, already a U.N. member, changed its name to Malaysia with the birth of the new country. But in the aftermath Malaysia severed relations with Indonesia and the Philippines.

Surprise

In a surprise development Communist Albania rather than the Soviet Union brought in the proposal that the assembly again debate the issue of Communist China's U.N. representation.

Albania is currently out of favor with Moscow and aligned with Peking in the dispute raging now between the Soviet Union and Communist China. Despite the quarrel the Soviet Union had been expected to propose that the assembly oust the Chinese Nationalists and admit the Chinese Communists.

Even though Albania apparently seized the initiative there was no doubt that the Soviet Union would support the proposal.

"We have always supported the seating of Communist China in the United Nations and we always will," Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, told a reporter. Dobrynin attended the opening assembly session.

55 Far Eastern Bishops Return To Church Talks

Rome (P)—Fifty-five Roman Catholic Bishops from the Far East, the first group to return for the Vatican Council arrived Tuesday.

They were prelates from Burma, Cambodia, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Formosa, Malacca, India, Thailand, Singapore and Pakistan.

The council reconvenes Sept. 29 after a recess of nine months. Several bishops from European countries have arrived individually for the session. About 2,500 patriarchs, archbishops, bishops, abbots and others will attend.

Kennedy Urges Hike In Exports

Washington (P) — President Kennedy posted a new growth target Tuesday for American business — a 10% increase in exports which, he said, would wipe out the balance of payments deficit.

The President also urged 400 industry executives and others, opening the two-day White House conference on export expansion, to press for restoration of what he termed disastrous House cuts in foreign aid funds.

Government aid cannot substitute for free enterprise in expanding foreign trade, Kennedy said, "but it can assist in breaking the path." He went on:

"And the recent cuts in this program by the House of Representatives, while saving at most only $20 million in American dollars on our balance of payments accounts, will have a severe impact upon our exports as well as our security."

Half the members of his cabinet joined Kennedy Tuesday in launching the accelerated export drive. The conference is part of the six-point government-wide campaign to stem the dollar outflow.

The secretaries of state, treasury, commerce, labor and agriculture, endorsed Kennedy's invitation to the businessmen to speak out "freely, candidly and fully" on their complaints or suggestions for government measures to improve the climate for U.S. exporters.

"If you can add just 10% to your exports — and that should not be too great a task for the enterprises of the United States — it will help us solve all our problems," Kennedy said.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon reported that government efforts for 2½ years have produced only "slow and difficult progress." The tax reduction bill will help, he predicted, but a stepped-up volume of exports remains "imperative" to correct the deficit which last year exceeded $2 billion.

"The dollar must and will remain firm," Dillon promised, "but this requires that we balance our international accounts in the near future even though it may call for heroic measures."

House Takes Action

McCORMACK LEADS PLEA

Washington (P) — President Kennedy's $190-million fallout shelter construction program passed the House Tuesday after Speaker John W. McCormack told the lawmakers "in my conscience, I could not vote against this bill."

The measure would authorize $175 million in federal aid to spur public and private shelter construction, and $15.6 million to build shelters in federal buildings. Passed by voice vote, it now goes to the Senate.

Rare Appeal

In a rare appeal on the House floor, the white-haired speaker from Massachusetts told congressmen "this bill is aimed at saving American lives in case there is a general attack."

And Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., told the House:

"I don't know whether it will save a single life, but I am not going to play God and make a judgment that affects the chances for existence of millions of Americans."

McCormack termed "unfortunate and materialistic" the argument that lifesaving efforts would be hopeless in the face of an all-out nuclear attack.

Incentive

He urged House passage of President Kennedy's $175-million program to offer federal incentive payments to spur fallout shelter construction in public and non-profit institutions. It would help create 10 million new shelter spaces.

The measure also provides $15.6 million to build one million new shelters in federal buildings.

McCormack made his speech after Rep. Clarence Brown, R-Ohio, attacked the administration plan as an unnecessary "political bill."

Brown said the choice of areas that would get federal aid would be a political problem for members of the House.

The $175-million authorization would be only the first step in a five-year, $2.1-billion program of shelter aid, Brown added.

Hebert said apathy and disinterest are the biggest barriers to an effective shelter system.

Rendezvous

"Today," he told the House, "you keep a rendezvous with your consciences . . . you sit in judgment on a matter of life or death to . . . 70 million of your countrymen."

The administration bill provides up to $2.50 a square foot to help provide shelter spaces across the country.

To be eligible, a shelter would have to provide space for 50 people, at 10 square feet each.

Hebert said it would cost an average of $4 a square foot to modify potential shelter areas in buildings open to the public.

Holmes Lake Control Passes To City

The 100-acre Holmes Park Lake is now under management and control of the City of Lincoln under conditions imposed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

City Public Safety Director Emmett Junge confirmed Tuesday that a 50-year license to the federally constructed reservoir was received last week by the city.

Park Supt. James Ager said the license, granted effective May 1, 1963, gives the city general control and management over the reservoir and federally owned land surrounding the lake.

No Boating Fees He said the license prohibits the city from charging any fees for boating on the lake or for use of boat ramps. The city may make reasonable charges for special facilities which the public has the option of using or not using.

Ager said the license provides the city must obtain federal permission for any structures or cuts and fills made on federal property.

Even though the city now has licensed jurisdiction over the lake, Ager said it is improbable any boating will be permitted this year.

6 Feet Below Maximum

He explained that lake level is still six feet below maximum and the proper level for boating on the lake.

He also noted that boat docks and access roads to the park area are not ready for public use.

TRAIN CAME TO REST . . . with side of bus plastered on front.

Train Slams Makeshift Bus, Killing 27 Mexican Laborers

Salinas, Calif. (P)—Twenty-seven Mexican celery workers were killed and more than 30 injured Tuesday by a freight train which ripped apart their makeshift bus, strewn bodies for a half mile along the track.

"Bodies stretched out on both sides of the train," coroner Christopher Hill, Jr., said after visiting the scene near the town of Chualar, eight miles south of Salinas.

"One body was hooked under the engine. Shoes, hats and cutting knives were all around."

"And from everywhere came the moans of the injured."

22 Die At Scene

Twenty-two died by the tracks. Others died as 15 ambulances rushed them to three Salinas hospitals.

The workers, returning from a celery field to a labor camp at Salinas, 100 miles south of San Francisco, were jam-packed on benches placed lengthwise on a flat bed truck.

The bus driver, Francisco Gonzales Espinosa, 34, said he stopped at the crossing, looked to his right but his view was obscured by a fellow worker and he neither saw nor heard the approaching freight.

The time was 4:30 p.m.

Sounded Warning

Engineer Robert E. Cripe, was peering out of the cab of his Southern Pacific locomotive which was pulling more than 70 sugar beet gondola cars as he sounded his warning whistle.

But Cripe said to his astonishment the bus moved onto the tracks and before he could slow the engine, rolling at 50 miles an hour, it smashed into the middle of the massed workers.

The sickening scene at the crossing so overwhelmed one California highway patrolman that, when he got back to his Salinas office, a fellow worker said:

"He looked like he had been on the bus with those braceros (imported farm workers from Mexico)."

Front Covered

"The entire front of the northbound Southern Pacific freight locomotive was covered with sheet metal," said Bob McVay, Salinas-King City radio station owner who reached the scene just as the first ambulance arrived.

"It (the sheet metal) formerly was the side of the bus."

"The train took a half mile to stop. Laborers were scattered the entire distance."

Hospitals Swamped

The parade of ambulances to the three hospitals swamped the emergency staffs.

One hospital staff aide, when asked how many injured there were there, replied:

"Around 12 but we've been too busy to count."

Fifteen of at least 35 injured were in critical condition.

Coroner Hill said identification of the dead could not even start before Wednesday.

Passports

"These workers were supposed to carry passports," he pointed out.

"But so far we have found only one."

The driver, Espinosa, escaped with only an injured shoulder as the cab fell clear at the moment of impact.

News of the wreck spread so swiftly in the area, known as "the lettuce capital of the world," that spectators crowded the scene. Police had to clear paths for the delayed ambulances.

Gas Co. Buys Uptown Area For Parking

Western Power and Gas Co. has purchased the half-block area immediately west of its new district office building at 10th and M for $75,000.

The area, fronting on 9th and M, now contains vacant store buildings which will be razed to provide off-street parking for the 250 employees who will occupy the 11-state operations headquarters at 233 So. 10th.

Glenn E. Bonnacker, Western's vice president in charge of gas operations, said that there were no plans to utilize the purchased land for building expansion.

Renovation of the former Smith-Dorsey plant building at 10th and M is in progress, Bonnacker said, and no completion date has been set.

Western Power and Gas Co. bought the Dorsey Laboratories building from the Wander Co. last December for approximately $285,000. The two-story structure will serve as general offices for Western's power and gas operations as well as its telephone subsidiaries.

Sales and service offices will remain at 12th and N.

U.S. Could Boost Exports By Trying

. . . ACCORDING TO BUSINESSMEN IN FOREIGN CAPITALS

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

New York (P) — America could do a lot more business in foreign lands if she'd really go after it.

That's the consensus of businessmen in foreign capitals asked by Associated Press bureaus to comment on how good a job U.S. firms do at exporting.

They said that too few American salesmen know their way around foreign markets and too few companies adapt to foreign needs.

Take Trouble

But the American companies that avoid these errors are very successful, showing it's merely a matter of taking the trouble, these foreign buyers say.

Foreign businessmen praise the skills of old-time world traders like International Business Machines Corp., Goodyear, General Motors and Johnson's wax.

Rate High

American packaging, advertising, product quality and, in some areas, follow-up service are rated highly by many foreign buyers.

But many complaints also are heard.

A salesman asked the American Embassy in Paris to line up interviews for him, then ignored all appointments that hadn't been arranged conveniently for the hotel where he was staying.

A Venezuelan firm inquired about auto parts and all it received, months later, was a thick catalogue, in English, quoting dollars.

One Reply

A Buenos Aires firm asked 29 U.S. companies to quote on delivering 500 pounds of sugar a month and got only one reply.

The ratings U.S. salesmen receive abroad vary according to geography (a Colombian banker says: "they have about as much of the market as there is to get") and product categories (excellent in industrial goods, weak in consumer goods, says a Stockholm importer).

Also, judgments expressed by foreign businessmen make it clear a lot depends on the company.

Spare Time

From Britain comes the complaint, "a lot of American companies want export orders but export is handled by the (company) president as a spare-time job—and I mean a spare-time job. It makes it difficult to get attention."

In Paris, the U.S. commercial counselor says "too few American manufacturers know the well-traveled commercial paths of export-minded Europe. They are babes in the woods."

And in Frankfurt, Germany, a banker comments "I sometimes have the impression that American salesmen when they get here don't know what they want. They come looking for information they could get at home."

Aren't Willing

In India, complaints are heard that American salesmen aren't as willing as their competitors to leave their air-conditioned big city hotels to go to the small industrial towns.

Then there are the special problems of language and price, both troublesome yet not as bad as one might think.

There are many tales of sales literature incomprehensible to a foreign buyer, of technical catalogues requiring tedious translating, of salesmen who offend with their disregard for their customer's tongue.

English

Yet, thanks largely to the British empire, English seems to be the world's business language. The only language complaint raised by a man in Lagos, Nigeria, was that quotations were in dollars rather than English pounds. Most foreign businessmen seemed to agree with the German banker who said "it's nice if the Americans speak our language, but not necessary."

Price difficulties are illustrated by this comment from Jaime Souza, owner of a Mexico City discount department store.

"An American company wine me and dined me and showed me a machine costing $10,000," he said. "Then a European salesman showed me a machine that would do the same thing for $1,500."

"I understand perfectly the reason for American prices," he added. "But that doesn't mean I'm willing to pay them."

Sloppy Cindy Weak Hitter

... WITH A POOR EYE

Port Arthur, Tex. (P) — Cindy, a hurricane with a weak eye and a sloppy figure, swept onto the Texas coast Tuesday and then limped away to the north, leaving more discomfort than damage.

This was a decided contrast to Audrey in 1957 which killed more than 500 and Carla which took 34 lives two years ago.

The surprise hurricane built up winds of 80 miles an hour and pushed tides ahead of it as much as 8 feet above normal.

It shuffled inland at 8 a.m. (CST) with its eye never very well defined. The Weather Bureau called it a poorly organized hurricane.

Three quarters of an hour after it passed inland between Port Arthur and Galveston, the thousands who fled coastal regions in Louisiana and Texas were told they could go home.

Cindy began dying, as all hurricanes do, when it reached land. Within an hour, winds had slackened off to 55 miles an hour or less. The storm, expected to trigger 10-inch rains, exceeded expectations.

Torrential rains fell in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area and by 10 p.m., Beaumont had measured 12.3 inches of rain in about 28 hours. Port Arthur had similar amounts of downpour and localized flooding occurred in each city.

Some residents were evacuated from low-lying areas and police said they were receiving scores of calls for help. The Jefferson County Civil Defense Council went into emergency session to work out a way to cope with the flooding waters.

"The water is reaching dangerous proportions," a Beaumont police dispatcher said. "It's coming up rapidly. All Beaumont schools were opened for the flood refugees and three residential areas were so badly flooded that automobile traffic was impossible."

Although real damage was light as hurricanes go, plenty of evidence remained that a storm had passed in the area stretching from Galveston, Tex., into Louisiana.

Gulf Oil Workers Worried More About Families Than Themselves

Lake Charles, La. (P) — "Most of us," the 30-year-old oil production foreman said Tuesday, "were worried about our families more than ourselves."

Richard W. (Dick) Johnson, perched atop a steel platform 55 feet above the Gulf of Mexico surface, talked in a radio-telephone interview about the night he and 36 men were trapped by quickie Hurricane Cindy.

All work either directly or indirectly for Continental Oil Co.

Johnson's job is to see that the machinery, which siphons oil from beneath the gulf floor, keeps running, as it did throughout Monday night.

The Welch, La., foreman and his crewmen played cards and watched television and the gulf seas as winds 50-75 m.p.h. screamed past the platform, and waves 25-35 feet high rolled the water underneath.

In secure comfort, reinforced by steel walls around them, they ate a midnight snack of cold cuts and ice cream.

Then sometime after midnight, all but one, a radio

MALAYS DEMONSTRATE ... against Indonesia, Sukarno.

FEDERATION BREAKS WITH INDONESIA AND PHILIPPINES

Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia (P) — The infant Federation of Malaysia broke diplomatic relations Tuesday with Indonesia and the Philippines, two big neighbors who viewed its birth with aversion. Their diplomats were ordered to leave Kuala Lumpur within a week.

A tit-for-tat raid by a screaming mob of more than 1,000 Malays on the Indonesian Embassy accompanied severance of the ties that Malaysia, the kingpin of the federation of four former British colonies, had maintained with Manila and Jakarta.

The diplomatic break drew expressions of concern and regret from U.S. officials in Washington. The United States approved the creation of Malaysia as an anti-Communist bulwark. President Kennedy has made his views known to both Indonesian President Sukarno and Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal.

Denounced In the Soviet Union, two Moscow newspapers denounced the creation of the federation Monday as a neo-colonialist plot to preserve Britain's influence in Southeast Asia. This line, which follows that of President Sukarno, was presented by the armed forces newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (red star) and the trade union organ Trud (labor).

The Malaysian march on the Indonesian Embassy was in revenge for an Indonesian mob's assault Monday on the Malaysian Embassy in Jakarta, where Sukarno's government condemns the new union of Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo and vows to maintain "a policy of confrontation."

About 200 Malays broke through the lines of blue-helmeted riot police and surged into the embassy grounds.

Firecrackers They tossed firecrackers, smashed windows and roof tiles with a barrage of stones. They set fire to a small consular building, but the flames were quickly extinguished. They broke furniture, tore up a picture of Sukarno and denounced him as a liar.

The Malaysian flag was raised on the embassy's empty flagpole, then brought down.

The rioters tore the Garuda, Indonesia's eagle-like emblem, from the front of the embassy and towed it away

British Stretching Piggies; 'Jack Sprat May Be Happy'

London (P)—How do you get more lean meat out of a pig? Maybe by making him exercise, British researchers reported Tuesday.

They announced a project to get pigs off their lazy hoofs and make themselves more profitable.

"Making pigs use their muscles," said Dr. David Bellis, "should increase the amount of lean meat."

Experimenting

Dr. Bellis and his team have started experiments at Colworth House in nearby Bedford.

The name of the experiment is—pig stretching.

The pigs are first fed at elevated troughs, rather than at troughs at ground level.

The elevated trough forces the pigs to stand on their hind legs in order to get something to eat.

As a pig will do practically anything to get at his food, the researchers believe they have found a sure way to leaner meat.

As the pigs grow older, the researchers will hike the feeding troughs still higher.

Ideally, this periodic raising of the slop troughs will continue until the pigs are longer, leaner, more muscular, and ready for the market.

Comparisons

Bellis said comparisons will be made between the stretched pigs and pigs that are allowed to eat at lower level troughs—where no exercise is needed other than swallowing.

Bellis said Britain needs a super pig and stretching, the researchers believe, is one way to produce one.

Top prices are paid here for ham, and the stretching for the trough is hoped to add an extra 5% of lean meat to the first group of pigs.

Dutch Princesses Unhurt In Mishap

The Hague, Netherlands (P)

—An open, horse-drawn carriage carrying Princesses Beatrix, Irene and Margriet nearly overturned outside the royal palace Tuesday when the reins became tangled in a row of low pillars.

The four horses fell. The coachman fell to the ground and broke a leg. But the princesses held their seats. Later they went in another coach to a joint session of both houses of parliament.

Marion Church Saved For Community Usage

Fullerton (P) — The little town of Marion has saved its Presbyterian Church although the building will no longer belong to the church organization.

Dr. Leslie Sweetland, Hastings, stated clerk of the Presbytery of the Platte, said that as a matter of routine the sales of the church building at auction last week was approved at Tuesday's Presbytery meeting.

This confirms the purchase of the buildings for $150 by Martin Frerichs, Marion farmer. But Frerichs has offered to return it to the community so it can be used as a community hall in this village of 20 inhabitants.

The Presbyterian congregation is served by a church at Danbury about four miles distant, but members of the Ladies Aid had hoped to hold their meetings in the present church and possibly set up Sunday school services in the church building which has been part of the community since 1923. The big objective is to use it as a community hall.

Five of the nine members of the Marion church who helped to save the structure for a community building are shown in front of the church. Left to right: Mrs. J. T. Dimmitt, 87, oldest member of the congregation; Mrs. Lowell Pew, secretary of the Ladies Aid; Mrs. Alan Redfern, president of the Ladies Aid; Mrs. May Pew, and Linda Pew, youngest member of the congregation.

Mr. Riggle had been in poor health and local officials have not announced whether or not Riggle's death should be classed as a traffic fatality.

Mrs. Riggle, who was injured in the accident, was released from the hospital Friday.

Cubans Congratulate Ben Bella on Election

Havana (P)—President Osvaldo Dorticos and Prime Minister Fidel Castro sent Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella a cable Tuesday congratulating him on his election.

The telegram said they were convinced the "links of brotherhood" between the two countries would grow stronger every day. It said this would help "in the liquidation of colonialism, the defeat of imperialism and the consolidation of world peace."

Dublin, Ireland (P) — Two tame deer from the Dublin zoo and a prize pony have been picked out as gifts for President Kennedy's children and are awaiting shipment to the United States.

Kennedy accepted the presents from President Eamon de Valera during his visit in June.
The deer, for daughter Caroline, have been in the pet corner of the Dublin zoo since they were fawns. The pony, for John, Jr., was selected by the Irish department of agriculture. It has won prizes in pony shows and jumping competitions.

Laborer Held For Burglary; $1,000 Taken

A 37-year-old Lincoln laborer was being held in City Jail Tuesday night on a burglary charge filed against him in connection with the theft of approximately $1,000 from Northwestern Metal Co., 27th and Superior. The burglary occurred late Friday night or early Saturday morning, County Attorney Paul Douglas said.

Sheriff's reports said the front door of the building had been entered and the theft made from two safes in the building.

The man was arrested Saturday morning when he went to the County Jail to post bond for a friend held there. Reports said the jailer found the man intoxicated and notified Lincoln police, who arrested him.

Police said they found $565 in the man's possession. Further investigation they said, determined he may have had a part in the burglary.

Douglas requested a delay in arraignment because the attorney would be out of town.

Fire Hits Gas Station; Employee Suffers Burns

Don Porter, 23, of 2027 No. 59th, was listed in satisfactory condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Tuesday night after he suffered burns to his hands and arms early Tuesday morning in a fire at Harvey's Texaco Service, 44th and O, where he is an attendant.

Fire Department officials said the fire started while Porter was washing down a greaseroom with gasoline. Firemen said the fire may have started when the gasoline got too near a hot water heater.

Harold Fager, of 4335 N. told The Star he was on his way to work when he saw smoke "pouring" from the station. He said he stopped his car after he observed flames in the garage portion of the building.

"Covered with flames" As Fager was running to the building, he saw Porter run from the station.

"The back of his shirt and the seat of his pants were on fire when I first saw him, then it looked like he was covered with flames," Fager said.

Fager said Porter somehow got over a high fence just west of the station and ran to Roper's Mortuary, where he was put into an ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Fager said he saw Porter run to the mortuary and also saw two boys there run to aid him, so he (Fager) went to the burning station, found a garden hose and extinguished the fire. He said the fire was out when the Fire Department arrived.

Firemen reported the fire did a "considerable" amount of damage to the building. Minor damage to the contents was reported.

Curb On Beef Imports For U.S. Sought First Lady Plans Trip To Greece

Washington (P) — Sens. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., teamed up in the Senate Tuesday to call for a curb on beef imports they said are hurting U.S. cattle raisers.

Mundt announced in a speech that he has taken up with the State Department the problem of increasing imports from Australia, New Zealand and other countries, which he blamed for a slump in domestic beef prices.

"In fact," Mundt said, "there is good evidence that our entire farm problem in America is imported from abroad."

Mansfield, the Senate majority leader, expressed "full accord with the views expressed" by Mundt. Mansfield suggested a "moratorium on imports on feeder cattle" as one possible answer.

Acknowledging a deliberate pun, he said he visited Montana ranchers last month and "one of the beefs of the cattle-men" was that imports of feeder cattle from Canada and frozen beef from New Zealand were depressing the domestic markets.

15 Killed In Crash
Recife, Brazil (P) — Fifteen persons were killed and 16 others injured when a truck carrying farm workers smashed into a bank. Police said the truck apparently had been traveling at high speed.

Washington (P)—First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy is going to spend the first two weeks of October in Greece, vacationing and convalescing.

The White House announced Tuesday Mrs. Kennedy's plans for the private trip abroad, starting Oct. 2.

The First Lady, who is recuperating after the birth and death of her third child, plans to stay near Athens, where her brother-in-law and sisters, Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill have rented a house.

The temperature in that southern European country in the early part of October usually averages about 67 degrees, with a high recorded at about 74 and low at 60—a pleasant range for the fall season.

Mrs. Kennedy plans to fly to Athens by commercial airliner, her press secretary, Pamela Turnure, said. Two Secret Service men will be her only traveling companions.

This is the second time since the Kennedys moved into the White House that Mrs. Kennedy has taken a private vacation in Greece.

Chevrolet already builds four lines of cars - now why is it building a fifth?

The reason—and we never had a better one—is you. Or people very much like you.

Each year, in case you haven't noticed, you've been growing a bit harder to please. A bit more demanding and selective in your tastes.

And that's fine by us. If we didn't believe in change for the better—if we weren't a bit restless and hard to please ourselves—we wouldn't be in the business of making cars.

So for '64 we're building the Chevelle—a totally new line of cars that offers a combination of advantages nobody else has got around to coming up with yet. Chevelle's comfort and conveniences, for example, are in the same league with many of today's bigger cars. Yet it has the handling ease and agility you'd expect only in a smaller car. And that's only part of the story.

To get the full picture you'll have to see and drive this one yourself. Clean, brash lines backed up by the kind of engineering—a choice of 14 power teams, no less—that allows for plenty of brashness in the way it behaves.

Chevelle may be your kind of car—and then again it may not. (Which is the reason we're building our other four for '64: the new Jet-smooth luxury Chevrolet; the thrifty new Chevy II with a choice of new V8 power; the sporty new Corvair with a more powerful rear engine; and the refined new Corvette, America's only pure-bred sports car.)

But whether you decide the Chevelle is for you or not, we think you'll agree it's for people very much like you—people who take choosing a car personally and are rather proud of being hard to please.

Your Chevrolet dealer—with five kinds of '64 cars to choose from—is expecting to meet a lot of people like you come announcement day. Chevrolet Division of General Motors, Detroit, Mich.

Tax Cut Help Needed

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Do you want lower taxes? The question seems ridiculous but it can be asked in all seriousness and probably will be asked of the American people in an address today by President Kennedy. The President is going before the American people to explain to them their stake in the $11 billion tax cut now pending in the House. The House is expected to pass the measure but a tough time for the bill is looked for in the Senate.

Why the President wants taxes cut is a pretty simple thing, as are the reasons many seem to have against the plan. The theory of the administration is that the cut will put spending money into the pockets of the American people, will increase consumer demand, stimulate capital investment in production and provide new jobs. He feels on the other hand that the economy of the nation is now being pinched by too high a tax rate, that the tax rate has reached and gone beyond what might be called the saturation point or the point of diminishing return.

President's Reasons

He believes that a tax cut will help stimulate the economy to the point where it so expands the tax base that the lowered rate will eventually produce more actual tax income than the present high rate. In other words, more jobs mean more taxpayers—a kind of broadening of the tax base.

On the other side of the fence are those who, for one reason or another, oppose the tax cut. Some opposition is undoubtedly politically motivated while some represents an honest difference of opinion and conflicting economic thought. It will be up to the American people to decide for themselves who is right and wrong.

Opponents to a tax cut stand mainly on the assertion that such a cut at times of record high spending levels is sheer folly. We cannot, they maintain, cut our income and increase our spending at one and the same time. They demand cuts in the federal budget to match the tax cuts and a guarantee that the national debt will not go beyond certain limits. If the President was correct in his theory, they infer, the obvious end of things for all government at all levels would be to cut taxes and the more they cut, the more their income would eventually be. For one thing, the tax cut now under discussion is for the federal government, not state or local governments, and all are not one and the same.

Also, the President does not maintain that there is no end to the cut that can be made in the tax rate. Obviously, the tax rate could just as easily be too low as too high in relation to all other elements of the economy. And finally, the argument that tax cutting must be matched with spending cuts is not necessarily a fact. For one thing, such a cut in spending would work in direct conflict with a tax cut in that this elimination of spending would reduce demand and further curtail capital investment. The result would be no increase in job opportunities and no overall improvement of the economy. Then, there is the question of the debt that would undoubtedly be incurred during the first few years of any tax cut without a corresponding cut in spending. The fact is that the national debt continues to decline in comparison with the rest of the economy of the nation.

In terms of our population and our gross national product, the national debt is less today than it has been for decades. Except in the area of defense, space and interest payments, the federal budget has gone up at a slower pace than the increase in population and has increased less in the past three years than in the prior three.

We constantly hear about the fact that the federal government is growing and are led to believe that there is some automatic evil in this. But what business that considers itself healthy is not also growing? Do we not have an ever increasing number of children in our schools today and are we not a nation constantly working for a better way of life for all our people?

What would be difficult to understand would be a substantial cut in the role of the government in contrast to everything else in the nation and throughout the world. Is the growth of the federal government, then, something to be feared or to be expected so long as it is in balance with the growth that is experienced all around it? Is a debt so fearful when there are constantly more people to share it and more funds with which to meet it so that for each individual, it actually grows smaller? A tax cut can be ignored or it could be hinged on a cut in spending but such would solve no problems.

With such alternatives we would still have an excessive unemployment rate, depressed capital investment and no help in meeting our unfavorable balance of payments situation. The tax cut may not represent perfection but it is the only thing at the moment that offers any hope for improvement of the economy.

Maintaining A Balance

Belongs To The Court

The House Un-American Activities Committee erred when it summoned the several youths who violated passport regulations and made an unauthorized visit to Castro's Cuba.

These young delinquents who relished the opportunity to get national attention corrupted the hearing with gross impudence. They succeeded in affronting the committee, which, itself, failed to prove anything the public did not already know, namely that the youths were not typical kids and had allowed themselves to be swept off their feet by professional agitators. For most of them it was a fine climax to a heady venture and also something which ten years from now most of them will hope no one remembers.

The committee had little if anything to prove; not as much as the law and the courts will have. And it lost in that it helped the group to another several days of full treatment in the nation's press. They were not entitled to that. The country at large was simply embarrassed.

The Cuba visitors are already under the scrutiny of a New York grand jury, seeking to determine whether there are sufficient grounds for court action. Certainly if there is reasonable grounds for a trial the youths will be taken to court where sophomoric and impudent behaviour will face punishment for contempt and where calm due process of law will examine their actions.

The case may be expected to get into the question of whether the State Department has exceeded its authority on who can travel where and when, whether a department regulation does or does not modify an American citizen's right of freedom of travel. The silly and at times shameful behaviour of the youths is really irrelevant to the central question, which does bear on the rights of the millions of well adjusted, well brought up Americans.

The Answer To Violence

Few words, if any, would be strong enough to fully describe the indignation with which the Birmingham Negro church bombing has been met. In a roundup of editorial comment from southern newspapers, the Associated Press has clearly shown that the bombing thoroughly shocked that part of the nation where the racial problem has been the most acute.

But the editorial comment did not seem to point up any suggested solution. The fact is that it would take someone with no spark of humanity to consider the bombing with anything but horror. Even ardent segregationists are among those who deplore such terrible acts of violence as this one which resulted in the death of four innocent children.

It is not enough, however, that we deplore the bombings. What must come eventually is a deploring of the conditions which contribute to such a thing. We want no more bombings but are we ready to make the social changes that are a prerequisite of such racial tranquility? The sad fact is that we cannot have it both ways.

Most certainly, those who threw the bomb should be apprehended and dealt with according to the full severity of the law. But then what? Such apprehension and prosecution will serve the cause of law and order but it will not make much if any contribution to the easing of racial tensions.

What has to be finally decided is the full truth of all that is involved in the bombing incident. And the full truth is that racial equality is nothing but a matter of lip service, at best, with far too many people. It is patently ridiculous to abhor violence while condoning the reality of racial intolerance.

We Are Not Going Broke

Taxes, no matter how heavily or lightly levied, are always cause for loud complaint.

Some complain because taxes really hurt. Others complain because everyone else does. And there are some who complain because it gives them status. This latter was especially true right after the turn of the '20s when the income tax was so mild and there were so many exemptions that it was a mark of distinction if one could earn enough to pay a tax. After paying about a $20 tax for the first time in his life an individual was apt to go down to the restaurant and denounce the robbing government for a solid morning. It gave him status over the great majority who hadn't yet been able to get on the tax rolls.

It is different now. Almost everyone gets to pay a substantial tax, although it is a case of having $4 to pay a $1 tax when earlier it was a case of having 50 cents to pay a $1 tax.

But the complaining goes on nevertheless.

The Associated Press throws a little cold water on the general claim the we are going broke. It quotes a survey conducted by economic scholars on funds provided by the Ford Foundation. It shows the rich are not getting poorer or fewer. The records revealed that Americans receiving $100,000 or greater income per year own 20 per cent of all the stock in United States business corporations. Yet in numbers they represent one tenth of one per cent of the population. Those receiving $25,000 or more a year own 48 per cent of all corporate shares.

That sounds pretty one-sided until one considers that there is a rather widespread distribution of corporate wealth. Today 17 million Americans, or one sixth of the total population, are holders of corporate stock. They don't get into print because they don't own phenomenal amounts, but what they individually own constitutes a neat nest egg.

Stennis Can Junket On Par With Powell

WASHINGTON — A lot of people in Mississippi were delighted when I reported on the spectacular junket of Harleem's congressman Adam Clayton Powell. Some of the same people in Mississippi will not be delighted when I report on the junketing of their sedate and solemn Senator John Stennis.

Accurate reporting, however, compels me to report that Stennis has an overall junketing record which rivals Powell's. And in view of the unusual steps he has taken to champion the views of certain Air Force generals against the test ban treaty, I think the public is entitled to know how much Stennis is indebted to the Air Force.

Probably the biggest debt Stennis owes the Air Force was when they sent two airplanes all the way across the Atlantic in 1955 to bring him and Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., home from Spain at an estimated cost of $20,000. This was more influence than even Adam Clayton Powell could exert and when the matter leaked to the press, both senators demanded an apology from the Defense Department for embarrassing them.

Other details of this trip were not unlike the Powell trip which I exposed last summer.

The senator from Mississippi took Mrs. Stennis along and there were two other senators on the trip, one of them now dead. The expense vouchers for this junket showed that the Stennis-McClellan party spent a whopping total of $37,810.11 for hotels, night clubs, excursions, souvenirs, etc. They claimed only $1,093 of this was personal, the remaining $36,717.11 was paid by the taxpayers as "official."

The money came from the same category as that used by Adam Clayton Powell, counter-part funds.

In the case of the senators, even Kleenex was charged up to the taxpayers. Reported John G. Bacon, an attaché of the American Embassy in Rome: "I paid all expenses up to date, including rental of vehicles, whiskey, Kleenex, etc."

A voucher from London listed Navy wine, embassy wine, Dorchester hotel reception, H. J. Adams (a theatrical agency) for theater tickets, and Daimler hire of cars. At the bottom this note was added: "Items for which no receipts obtainable included 60 boxes of Kleenex, two cartons cigarettes, Wedgewood China, etc."

For one day in Edinburgh, where the United States has no bases, expenses were $928.20. The cheapest side trip was made to Dublin for $536.93.

In Rome, Sen. Stennis drew $361.89 in counter-part funds for out of pocket expenses for which he did not have to account. In London he drew $187.08.

Tito Seen As Red Operative With U.S. Footing The Bill

WASHINGTON — Yugoslav President Tito arrives for his first White House visit next month at approximately the time Congress expects to vote on President Kennedy's request that communist Yugoslavia be restored to a "most favored nation" tariff position.

The timing of the Red dictator's visit on Oct. 17 is interesting in two other respects: He has just signed an agreement with Moscow to build nine oil tankers and five dry cargo ships to augment the Soviet supply line to Fidel Castro's Cuba; and he will be winding up official visits to Bolivia, Chile, Brazil and Mexico.

A top authority on Latin American communism says it is "more than coincidental" that Tito is concentrating on the four republics which have been the chief centers of pro-Castro sentiment within the Organization of American States.

Father Joseph F. Thorning, admirably called "the padre of the Americas" by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and other solons, was the first expert publicly to brand Fidel Castro a communist, while officials of the Central Intelligence Agency were still adamantly insisting that Castro was not red.

Dr. Thorning now says of the Tito visit: "It is meaningful that the communist dictator will be visiting four key nations who all have presidential elections next year. U.S. taxpayers, through the foreign aid program, are promoting and financing that visit while Tito works to undermine us."

For nineteen consecutive years, Father Thorning has been invited by House speakers of both parties to offer the prayer in the House on Pan American Day. Author of numerous books, and holder of fourteen national decorations from Latin governments, he says of our upcoming Red visitor: "Tito openly supports every major plan in Nikita Khrushchev's foreign policy platform. This ranges from open support of Castro, to United Nations recognition of East Germany and Red China."

Father Thorning said he has been informed by a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff that although "all the money does not show in public accountings," the U.S. government has contributed more than three billion dollars to communist Yugoslavia since the war. Official figures top the two-and-a-half billion mark.

Of the four Latin American nations on Tito's travel agenda, Father Thorning says:

Bolivia has nationalized its principal resources, including tin, and its left-wing officials are doing such a prize job of mismanagement that from a third to a half of Bolivia's entire national budget is being supported by U.S. taxpayers. Vice President Juan Lechin is an admitted Marxist.

It is an undisputed fact that Brazil's highest echelon of government and armed forces is heavily infiltrated with Marxist-Leninist agents.

Although Chile now has a good president, he cannot succeed himself, and a strong contender next year will be socialist candidate Salvador Allende, "a traveling salesman for Marxist-Leninism" who came within 50,000 votes of winning election last time.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I have black spots on my tongue. I have been taking vitamins but that doesn't seem to be the answer. What could cause this condition? — MRS. C. W.

There are several possibilities. Antibiotics can do it, whether taken in capsule form or as lozenges. They can change the "bacterial balance" of the mouth. Sometimes such spots are due to iron deposits resulting from irritants in the mouth. Tooth pastes or powders may do it to some individuals. Denture creams or "pastes" might be involved. And excessive smoking does it in some instances.

So if you have been using antibiotics, discontinuing them may be the answer. (Of course, if you are taking them under your doctor's instructions, consult him first.)

Possibly increased doses of Vitamins B, C, and perhaps A will help. Sometimes brushing the tongue with a toothbrush seems to overcome the condition.

Beyond these suggestions, any further treatment would have to depend on your doctor's examination and advice.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by the term, myocardial infarct? What is the best treatment? — MRS. E.N.

It means a heart attack. The treatment consists of living in such a way as to avoid a future one. To do that, the first rule is to understand the real nature of an attack.

Dear Dr. Molner: A recent column of yours emphasized the necessity for precaution while using some hair sprays. You may wish to know that New York

State requires that cosmetology licensees have a knowledge of English . . . an operator unable to read labels on products to be used on people could easily cause bodily harm. An article such as yours emphasizes the necessity for legislative enactment that cosmetologists take a practical examination and a written examination in English. —CAROLINE K. SIMON, SECRETARY OF STATE

Thank you, Mrs. Simon. This column appears in newspapers in 45 of the 50 states, plus several provinces in Canada. In my opinion the State of New York, by this law, makes a very sensible demand.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 20 and although in good health, not very tall — 5 feet 6. I have heard that hormone shots can stimulate growth, but that they can also have bad effects. Is there any chance of growth at the age of 20? —R.A.

Height is determined by heredity and little else. In cases of hormone imbalance, correction may bring growth up to what it was originally supposed to be, but that's about all.

Growth ceases in boys at about 20, and in girls at about 18. After that hormone injections cannot encourage further growth — and probably couldn't have earlier, either, so don't waste time in regrets. Just accept your natural height.

You know what Lincoln said — Providence seems to have made everybody's legs just long enough to reach the ground.

Dear Dr. Molner: I'm a farmer's wife. For several years every fall to late spring I have a rash, mostly on my right hand but a little on the left thumb. My doctor advised a skin specialist but as we are some distance from the city, I have found it impossible to consult one. I have tried various creams and salves but the itch stays. Perhaps I should stay away from the farm. How can I get help? — MRS. W. P.

I don't know that you should "stay away from the farm," but I do have a suspicion that you should stay away from something or other that you use in the fall and winter, since that is when the rash develops. It could be such a simple thing as a dust mop, nickel from scissors, or something like that — the paint on a handle, for instance. I've known of such cases. What do you hold in your hands (and mostly with the right one) part of the year, but don't use much in summer?

If you want to solve the problem by yourself, without the aid of a skin specialist (or an allergist), you may find that it's a contact dermatitis — a skin irritation from something you touch.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend of mine went on a starvation diet last year. She is 16 and was not overweight. Now she is so thin and weak from the loss of 35 pounds that she cannot participate in any activities. She had to miss over a week of school because she couldn't walk upstairs. Her face is swollen and hardly recognizable. She has been going to her family doctor for a few months but he doesn't seem to be "building her up." We, her friends, are very concerned. — L.D.

And people wonder why I oppose "crash diets"!

Sometimes they come out without great harm — but sometimes they don't. In this case, obviously damage has set in, and it may take more than food to correct the condition. I send my sympathy to all concerned, especially the doctor who is trying to correct the aftermath of a senseless "diet."

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his columns whenever possible. Copyright, 1963, Publishers Newspaper Synd.

Each, His Best

York, Neb.

I would take issue with the writer of "Another Legend Passes" (Star, Sept. 12). I hope the tone of this editorial does not reflect the author's real feelings.

The attitude on the part of so many people, both young and old, that as individuals they are worthless, accounts for much of the instability of our day — and for moral decline in all areas. As for corporations and groups, if each member felt his contribution to be of little value, could that corporation or group grow and function? Where would General Motors (used as an example) be today if the work and place of the individual were of no value? Has it occurred to the writer that legendary individuals do not just happen, but are the product, in large measure, of the environment from which they come? Our young people are groping for a meaning for their very existence, and our society tends to make them "adjust to the norm" and to become "group oriented" — encouraging a lack of individuality.

And then we moan because our communities, our political parties, even our churches lack leaders. If more people in plain, everyday walks of life would use their influence wherever they could, in small ways, it is not possible that our country would produce more Bryants, Greeleys and Hestons? If these legendary people had felt useless and unimportant and had discounted their abilities and feelings, would we even know their names today? Most of the progress in our history has come about because some rugged individualist acted and inspired others to act. The lives of great people have been influenced by ordinary people, just doing their job as best they could. Read Abraham Lincoln's account of the influence on his life of one Mentor Graham; yet one in 10 will not know this name if it is mentioned.

In our complex society, where one must learn to function as a group member, it seems to me more important than ever that each person strive to develop his God-given talents — to make a place for himself — as an individual.

MRS. MARY KYKER

Tough Situation

Lincoln, Neb.

Just a few lines in regard to the school situation and placing of the students. The Lincoln problem is not unique. Each of my four grandchildren in another city is compelled to go to different schools. The six-year-old is being transported by bus to one farther away than the one she should normally walk to. The little five-year-old has to go by bus to a private kindergarten, as the city does not provide one. And to make it "easier" for the mother, all four go at different times. The family bought their home in a new section, with the school being built and promises of adequate room, and this is the result.

We should all realize we must make the best of a tough situation.

A GRANDMOTHER

Conflict Goes On

Lincoln, Neb.

Americans cannot be very proud. In Birmingham four small girls lie dead, victims of a crime so unspeakable and heinous that it defies belief. Last Sunday's bombing of a Negro church is such a vile stain on the American dream that one wonders if it can ever be eradicated. This criminal act was done not in defense of freedom, but to deny freedom — what mockery this makes of American ideals of freedom, justice and equality.

Immediate responsibility for this despicable crime certainly rests in part with southern officials who by their defiance of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States have condoned if not encouraged resort to violence and lawlessness. In a larger sense, though, none of us can evade his responsibility for the situation. For much too long a time we have lived with, accepted, and rationalized the evil of segregation. Neither words nor deeds can wipe away the tarnish on the American vision of freedom and brotherhood while segregation exists in the land. By all religious, moral and ethical ideals that give substance to American society, segregation is wrong. The sickness which erupts in the senseless murder of children at worship cannot be cured until Americans — North and South alike — face this fact squarely and without reservation.

Abraham Lincoln said a century ago that this nation could not exist half slave and half free. The Civil War settled the slavery issue for all time, but the conflict will not finally be over until the Negro in America is secure in the same rights that all other Americans enjoy.

Teacher Certification Rules Meeting Scheduled Thursday

A group of 22 Nebraskans—including educators, lay citizens and state senators—will meet in Lincoln Thursday to begin the important job of setting up new rules and regulations for teacher certification.

By Jan. 1 this group, known as the Nebraska Teacher Certification Advisory Committee, must recommend to the State Board of Education a new set of standards aimed at making teacher certification in Nebraska more streamlined and flexible.

Under authority vested in it by the 1963 Legislature, the State Board of Education on that date will become responsible for certification standards which heretofore were set by statute.

Objectives Outlined
Assistant Commissioner of Education LeRoy Artgiesen, secretary of the committee, Tuesday outlined some of the broad objectives the group hopes to achieve.

One is to gain more uniformity in the requirements on non-degree teachers; to make non-degree certificates good for three years, rather than the varying one, two and three-year certificates now issued in this category, and to establish a uniform expiration date for all certificates—June 30.

The declared purpose of the 1963 act—"to provide more flexibility in the certification of qualified teachers for Nebraska schools—will apply largely to rules to be adopted for teachers who have obtained degrees.

Ortgiesen said he hopes the committee can recommend standards which are flexible enough to bring about the effective recruitment program in the teaching profession.

Others Limited
The rigid requirements now set by statute limit the entrance into the profession of persons with degrees in one field, such as liberal arts, who might be interested in teaching if they could work under probationary certificates while taking additional work in educational courses.

Ortgiesen said he also hopes the committee can work toward the establishment of 10-year certificates for degree teachers with experience which could be issued after their initial five-year certificate.

Over 200 Catholic Laywomen Slated To Gather In City

More than 200 Catholic laywomen are expected Wednesday at the three-day Leadership Training Institute sponsored by the National Council of Catholic Women (NCCW) at the Nebraska Center.

NCCW President Mrs. Joseph McCarthy and the group's executive director, Miss Margaret Mealey, will be joined by other Catholic leaders for the meetings, which will be primarily concerned with "Challenges 1963."

Rt. Rev. Msgr. John C. Knott, director of the NCCW Family Life Bureau, will discuss "Challenge to the Nature of Woman" at 3 p.m. Wednesday. Thursday's major lecture will be delivered at 10 a.m. by the Rev. John LaBauve concerning "Challenge to Justice and Love."

Hossack Defends Land Purchases

... ANSWERS CHARGE BY SEN. CRAFT

The State Highway Department is "interested in only one thing" regarding land purchase along the Interstate Highway, and that is in "paying the full market value for the property, or in the case of a partial taking, the difference in value before and after."

That was State Engineer John Hossack's reply Tuesday to criticism rendered earlier by Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte that the department was trying too hard to economize on land purchases.

"It seems to me," Craft charged, "the intention of the department is to pay just enough for the land and for severance damages so the owners won't go to court."

'Not Trying to Steal' Hossack answered, "We're not trying to steal the land and we're not trying to get it at a particular bargain price, but we're trying to pay the fair market price as determined by competent appraisers or by the courts in the case of appeals.

"We're just as interested in giving the last dollar as in getting the last dollar," the state engineer continued.

Hossack acknowledged it sometimes becomes difficult to determine awards in cases where property is partially taken, such as where highway right-of-way is acquired through a farm, leaving part of the farm on one side of the highway and part of it on the other.

Damage Study
The department currently is engaged in a severance damage study to determine eventually what happens to the value of such severed property.

Other states are making similar studies, he said, and some of the findings have indicated that property broken up by acquisition for public purposes often has gained appreciably in value with the passage of time.

In some cases, the proximity of the property to Interstate Highway interchanges has made the property desirable for commercial purposes, and such land also has been subject to some speculative purchases, he said.

Hossack cited a case in the Omaha area, about two miles south and a little east of Millard, where farm land was valued at about $300 per acre at the time the Highway Department was acquiring land, but which recently sold for $1,000 per acre.

Court Date For 13 Held In Train Holdup Delayed

Linslade, England (AP)—Court proceedings against 13 persons accused of complicity in Britain's $7,280,000 mail train robbery were postponed Tuesday until Sept. 26.

The prosecution obtained the delay because of additional developments, including the arrest of three more men since the Aug. 8 robbery.

'Fuyushio' Deivered

Tokyo (AP)—The fifth Japanese-built submarine was delivered to the Japan Self-Defense Agency in a ceremony at Kobe port in central western Japan. The submarine, 790-ton Fuyushio (Winter Tide), is to be manned by a crew of 40 and is equipped with three torpedo tubes.

A Guest From Tokyo Summer's Long Run Comes To An End

The footlights faded out on summer at some particular hour and moment this weekend and there will be no curtain calls. For all practical purposes the doors closed on summer's performance a week or two ago—at home—and just this week at various places here and there.

By way of explanation we'll admit we're judging summer's end from the standpoint of the school set—and this morning we have news of who has gone where to prep and college.

Among the pre-college feminine set we have Miss Kathy Stover who is to be a student at Abbott Academy, Andover, Mass., this year. Young Miss Stover, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lee Stover, and Mrs. Stover left last weekend for the east coast, and we hear that Mrs. Stover will be arriving home tomorrow.

And to Troy N.Y. and Emma Willard School has gone

Dear Abby

You're Playing Wrong Game

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a man at work and liked him right away. I knew that he was married, but we saw each other anyway because he said his wife didn't care if he went around with other women. I guess it must be true because he never has to rush home, and he can get away to see me as much as he wants to. I am divorced. I don't want a ny trouble, Abby, so I told him. I wasn't going to go on seeing him unless he brought me a note from his wife saying she didn't care. If she will do this, I'll go on seeing him—otherwise, I won't. He says he'll put her on the phone, but he won't ask her to sign anything. What do you think, Abby? I am 44 years old and I don't want a shot in the head.

CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: Note or no note, you're in the wrong game, with the wrong guy, at the wrong time. You've admitted it—now act on your confession.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I wanted to will our bodies to a medical college. When we wrote telling them about it, they wrote back and told us we would have to pay the shipping charges. We wrote back asking them how much it would cost. They wrote and said they didn't know, but when the time came they'd take it out of our estates. Wouldn't you think if they wanted our bodies they would be glad to pay the shipping charges? Or at least tell us how much it will cost?

MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: More information is needed here. Send me your full name and address (it will be confidential) and the name of the medical college to which you wrote.

DEAR ABBY: I have been invited to a number of weddings this summer, and my problem is I never know what to say when I go through the receiving line. I have a friend who always says something funny when he shakes hands with the parents of the bride, like "Well, you aren't LOSING a daughter, you're GAINING a bathroom!" Is this appropriate or shouldn't something a little more serious be said?

STUMPED FOR WORDS

DEAR STUMPED: The parents of the bride and groom, and the groom, should be congratulated—never the bride. She is wished a lifetime of happiness, and the jokes are saved for later.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MAX'S WIFE: You are mountain-climbing over molehills. Be grateful that you will have a husband who always leaves his shoes in the living room.

DEAR ABBY: How old does a man have to be before he starts acting old? John is 42 and I am 40 and we have been married 20 years. We have two sons, 16 and 18. John's place of business is only a few blocks from here so he comes home for lunch every day, which makes matters worse. I know that when a man is first married he likes to hug and kiss and show a lot of affection, but isn't he supposed to let up a little with the years? John is a wonderful husband in every way and I love him very much, but I would be satisfied with just a good night kiss—if you know what I mean.

NO MATCH FOR HIM

DEAR NO MATCH: Yes, I know what you mean, and your complaint is not uncommon. When a man and his Mrs. are not operating on the same frequency, they should visit their family doctor for some frank talk and advice. Your husband is too young to start "acting old"—and so are you.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "J.". The answer is obvious. When you're with the one you love, you love the one you're with.

What's on your mind: For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Miss Avery Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, Mrs. Woods also accompanied her daughter east.

The past weekend found Francis Watson son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Watson on his way back to Taft School, Watertown, Conn., after a summer in Lincoln.

Also on the off-to-school list is Kenneth Clark Jr., who is attending Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., this year. He was accompanied to Minnesota by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark.

And speaking of the Clark family—they returned last Thursday from a several weeks tour of Europe. Last Saturday Miss Barbara Clark returned to Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass. Miss Clark returned to Wellesley 10 days before the official opening of the academic year so that she could participate in the Wellesley Independent Study Opportunity. Under this program 30 students participants do independent reading and research. Miss Clark will study Biblical history.

This week Miss Brenda Brown, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III, takes off for Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., for a period of orientation before the beginning of classes.

So much for the school crowd this Wednesday morning—and on to parties for a bride-elect. She is Miss Carol Kramer of Syracuse whose marriage to James F. Groth will share honors on Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Flavel Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nolte will be hosts and hostesses at a late brunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wright.

Among the recent courtesies for Miss Kramer was the morning coffee and kitchen shower last Saturday morning when Mrs. George Eager and Mrs. Fred Eiche entertained at the home of Mrs. Eager. The guest list included the members of a bridge club to which the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Groth, belongs.

Club Dinner

Mrs. Loraine Christensen presided at the Monday evening dinner-meeting of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club. Miss Janice Hensel, topic mistress, introduced the table topic, "September Holidays", and toastmistress was Mrs. Henry Holtz.

Program speakers were Mrs. Christensen, "A Different Kind of Meeting"; Mrs. Fred Waggoner, "I Remember"; and Mrs. Keith Blackledge, "Once Upon A Time".

Lincoln Has New Neighbors

Already making friends in Lincoln are Mrs. Robert G. Anderson and the four young Andersons who, with Dr. Anderson, arrived in Lincoln just three weeks ago.

Dr. and Mrs. Anderson and their family came from Columbus and are residing at 2129 So. 35th St.

We Hear That

Moving to Des Moines, Iowa, in the near future will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson, who have been Lincoln residents for the past ten years. The Wilsons' son, Tim, will remain in Lincoln to complete his senior year at the University of Nebraska. The family's new address will be 2735 Carole Circle, Des Moines.

Suburbia Relaxes Before Autumn Activity Begins

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Zimmer, Jr., literally rolled out the red carpet to greet their 28 out-of-town dinner guests last evening at their home. But the red carpet was not the only symbol of an enthusiastic welcome—

The house was decorated with a variety of welcome flags—and for those visitors from the South the Confederate flag was very much in evidence. Among the many guests attending were, left to right, Mrs. Hugh Murray and Mr. Murray of Raleigh, N.C., Mrs. John Zimmer Jr., Mr. Zimmer, Mrs. Blakely Bush and Mr. Bush of Kansas City, Mo.

There is, however, always time to relax and visit with out-of-town guests, and very special visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yost this week is their son and daughter-in-law and family. Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Yost and Kevin and Eric Jay.

The visiting Yost foursome arrived in the Lincoln area 10 days ago from Glendale, Calif., and will be visiting with friends and relatives until next week.

Another Fiene Heights family that is taking life easy this week and enjoying its newest member is that of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Sherman.

The newest addition to the Sherman family is Master Scott Robert Sherman who made his debut Sept. 9, at Lincoln General Hospital.

There are also some very happy grandparents and they are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Riddle of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sherman of Loup City. Scott also has an older sister, Jodi, who is two years old.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Entertaining guests this past weekend from Kansas were Mrs. Howard Frey and her daughter Donna Jean.

The out-of-state visitors were Mrs. Frey's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Blackstone from Minneapolis, and another aunt, Mrs. Maude Kottman from Ellsworth.

The visitors who arrived last Saturday were in the Lincoln area to attend the Wickstrom Beauty Educational Show at Pershing Auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackstone and Mrs. Kottman returned to their homes on Monday.

COTNER TERRACE

Spending a leisurely day in Burr last weekend were Cotner Terrace residents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Ward and their daughter Patti.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward and Patti were the guests of Mrs. Ward's mother and sister, Mrs. E. McCaugh and Dot, for Sunday afternoon and evening.

Two very special visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Stolley include their daughter, Claudia, and her friend, Miss Sue Prouty. The two girls arrived in Lincoln several days ago from Los Angeles, Calif., and will be visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Stolley and their friends for three weeks.

SOUTH HILLS

Motoring to Lawrence, Kan., last week were South Hills residents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nickeson and their daughter, Barbara.

The occasion for the trip was to enter Barbara at the University of Kansas where she will begin her freshman year.

Mr. and Mrs. Nickeson returned to their Lincoln home that same day.

EASTBOROUGH

A birthday celebrant in the Eastborough area last Saturday was Master Jeff Schock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shock, who marked the big occasion with a party at his home.

On the guest list for the third anniversary celebration were Karen Salmonson, Gayle Brandt, Theresa Kelsay, and Ginny Dunn.

The birthday celebration also included the mothers of the invited guests and Mrs. Jack Weaver, who enjoyed an afternoon of coffee while the young set was playing.

EASTMONT

Card players that are to be entertained next Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly who will be host and hostess to a neighborhood group that meets two or three times a month for "just any kind of cards they feel like playing."

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly's guests for cards and a late supper are to be Mr. and Mrs. Lee Van Boskirk, Mr. and Mrs. Willbur Krieger, Mr. and Mrs. William McClellan, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ickler.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

This hand occurred during the national championships played in Coronado, Calif., in 1959. The East-West hands were held respectively by Mrs. Dorothy Hayden and Mrs. Sylvia Stein, both among America's highest-ranked women players.

Mrs. Stein opened the bidding with two clubs, an artificial forcing bid. (It was only a coincidence that Mrs. Stein happened to have clubs.) Mrs. Hayden made the negative (also artificial) response to two diamonds to deny positive values.

South now intervened with two spades. Having already indicated a good hand by her previous bid, Mrs. Stein passed at this point. She was in no position to judge how far or where to go, but she hoped that Mrs. Hayden would be able to lead the way to the best contract.

Mrs. Hayden had about the worst hand it is possible to hold in bridge, but, mindful of her obligation to keep the bidding open in one form or another, she doubled.

This turned out to be the right decision, since Mrs. Stein passed the double and cashed her seven winners to defeat the contract two tricks — 300 points. It was the maximum score possible with the East-West cards, since the most that East-West could make if left to their own devices was three clubs.

Mrs. Stein's pass of two spades, after opening with a strong two bid, was quite unusual, but even more unus-al was Mrs. Hayden's double with a worthless hand. Certainly, if ever there was a case for passing a forcing bid, East had the hand for it, but Mrs. Hayden prized her cards sufficiently and had enough faith in partner's opening bid to double.

The East hand was a curiosity in other respects also. The usual definition of a Yarborough is a hand containing no card as high as a ten, but in this case East had no nine or eight either. The odds against being dealt a hand with the highest card a seven are 254,398 to 1.

FIENE HEIGHTS

There comes a time in the life of every Suburban resident when the thought of relaxation overwhelms the many social events that are taking place in the community.

Now that summer is over and school has begun, mothers find themselves busy with PTA meetings, bridge groups, and planning lunches — which we find, leaves very little time for entertainment.

Why Grow Old?

Bone Structure Is Difference

Josephine Lowman

Many women make mistakes when trying to apply height and weight chart information to themselves. These act as splendid guides, but each woman is different, and she should take these individual differences into consideration when deciding what her weight and measurements should be.

For instance, a woman who has large bones may look and be slim while another who is the same height and weight, but has a small frame, will be fat. Today weight charts take this into consideration. They used to be only charts of average weights according to age. Today most charts list the small, medium, and large frame when listing desirable weights.

Masculature is another factor. If you have well developed muscles and are solid you may weigh more than another woman who is fat and not be fat yourself. The weight of such persons is often surprising because they look so slender.

Bony structure makes it impossible for some women to achieve the so-called ideal measurements. These are usually conceded to be bust and hips the same and waist 10 inches smaller. In many cases a woman simply cannot have a waist that small, even if she has no fatty deposits, because of her bony structure.

Study the height and weight charts. Then analyze your figure, listing any defects. Perhaps you only need to improve your posture in order to improve your figure. Perhaps the protruding abdomen, the thickened waistline, the small bust measurement, and swayback hips are not due to overweight, but to poor posture.

Or, maybe you are not overweight, but your pounds are not distributed attractively. You may have pads of fat on your abdomen or hips or deposits around your waist which spoil your silhouette, even if you are the correct weight. If this is true you can remedy the situation by taking special exercises.

Education Board OKs Wage Hikes Over Budget Proposal

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Education Tuesday approved a salary schedule for State Department of Education personnel which was more than the Legislature's Budget Committee had recommended, but less than had been proposed by the department.

The board specifically set the salaries of the commissioner and his four assistants, then ordered a 1.8% reduction in the department's proposed salary schedules for other professional staff.

State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd A. Miller's salary was boosted $1,500, to $14,000 annually — a higher figure than he had proposed. He asked the board to reduce his salary to keep it more in line with other increases granted, but it refused to do so.

Salary hikes of $1,000 each were voted by the board for these four top officers: Deputy Commissioner Stanley Hawley was raised to $11,100; Assistant Commissioner LeRoy Ortgiesen to $10,600; Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education Cecil Stanley, $10,400, and Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Rehabilitation Fred Novak, $10,000.

The department had proposed salary increases for its professional staff of 10.53%, whereas the Budget Committee had recommended an annual increment of 3.5%, or seven percent for the biennium. The board's increase amounted to 8.73%.

In the cases of Hawley, Ortgiesen and Elementary Education Consultant Ray Hult the Budget Committee had recommended that no increases be granted during the 1963-65 biennium.

All salary increases were made retroactive to Aug. 1.

At the outset of the board's three-hour discussion on budget matters, members advised Miller they thought the department's proposed figures were a little higher than could be approved.

Members said they felt the department's salaries were lower than they should be, but the matter had to be approached from a business standpoint.

During the discussion, Board Member Frank Heinisch of Omaha commented that the board was not going to be a "rubber stamp" for anyone—the Legislature or the state commissioner of education.

Miller Agrees

Heinisch said he knew it was not Miller's intention that the board should be a "rubber stamp," to which Miller emphatically agreed.

Following completion of the budget, board members approved a time and cost expenditure schedule for the building program at the Nebraska School for the Deaf at Omaha which must be submitted to Gov. Frank Morrison by Nov. 1.

The governor has requested all agencies using the institutional building fund to submit to him by that date a schedule of anticipated expenditures so that allocations can be established from the fund.

The board also approved preliminary plans for the $651,267 building program at the school.

American Heiress To Divorce Ex-Chauffeur

Zurich, Switzerland (AP) — American heiress Gamble Benedict Porumbeanu Tuesday began divorce proceedings against the Romanian-born ex-chauffeur for whose love she once defied family and courts and risked a fortune.

Her Swiss lawyer, Eugen Curti, told newsmen Mrs. Porumbeanu, 22, is seeking a divorce from 37-year-old Andre Porumbeanu on grounds of misconduct. She has also withdrawn all powers of attorney her husband has held on her behalf.

Curti refused to give any further details. Mrs. Porumbeanu has left her hillside villa near here and was not immediately available for comment.

Porumbeanu was reported to be in New York.

The Porumbeanus married three years ago, have two boys, Gheorghe Mihai, 2, and Grigoreo, 9 months.

In April 1960, Gamble, then a 19-year-old heiress to a $20 million Remington typewriter fortune, defied a New York court and her grandmother-guardian, Mrs. Katherine Benedict, by eloping with Porumbeanu and marrying him in the western North Carolina resort town of Hendersonville.

Only three weeks before, Porumbeanu had obtained a Mexican divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Madi Helma Porumbeanu. They have a daughter, Gigi, now 13.

On being told of her ex-husband's second marriage, Mrs. Madi Porumbeanu said Gamble "doesn't know what she is letting herself in for."

By then, Gamble's romance with Porumbeanu had made headlines on both sides of the Atlantic.

Parking Lot Work To Start At Courthouse

Conversion to a county parking lot of a portion of the block directly south of the Courthouse will begin this week, Deputy County Engineer Walter Hoppe told Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday.

According to Hoppe, his department will begin immediately rocking the area, which will accommodate between 60 and 75 cars.

Commissioners William Grossman and Ralph Harlan noted that the area would be available for those transacting business at the Courthouse and will be completed in time for the first jury session of the fall term, which begins Sept. 30.

The parking lot is a part of the near-block now owned by the county between H and J and 9th and 10th.

With the recent purchase of two and one-half lots at 627 So. 10th from F. E. Buell for $14,500, the county now owns all but two lots in the block.

SUSPECT

Suzanne Le Fort, 19, is being held at San Diego, Calif., on suspicion of embezzling $30,000 from the bank in Chambly, Que.

7 Elderly Men Die In Rest Home Fire

Riggins, Idaho (AP) — Seven elderly men died Tuesday in a fire that raced through a sprawling, wooden rest home in the mountains of west central Idaho.

About 35 others were evacuated safely.

Some of the survivors were pushed out of the blazing building in wheel chairs. Some had to be carried, others led by the hand.

"Some of the patients could walk and some were in wheel chairs," said Mrs. Anita Miller, an employee. "Some were bedfast and we carried them out and laid them on the grass, wrapped in blankets."

There was no chance to rescue the men who perished.

"They couldn't be saved," said Robert Salter, operator of the Paradise Pines Rest Home. "It was such a short period after it started until it was engulfed in flames."

Sheriff Frank Burholder said the victims, all in the 80s or 90s were found in their beds in an annex adjoining the main building.

"I think they all suffocated before the fire got there," he said.

Mrs. Kate Hall a nurse's aid, said she was awakened about 3:30 a.m. by what she thought was heavy rain on the roof.

"Then it occurred to me that it wouldn't be raining that hard," she said, and I felt the wall and it was almost too hot to touch.

"I went outside and the ceiling of the patio off the furnace room was on fire."

Mrs. Hall said a small fire started in the same furnace room about a year ago but the furnace and the room had been repaired.

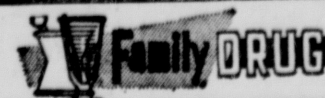

The dead, all from Idaho, were John Passi and Frank Rowland, McCall; John Zietlow, Cascade; Joe Bogle, Cottonwood; Dan Stowe, Grangeville; Otto Korbin, Riggins, and John Broadahl, New Meadows.

Coroner Gene La Fay said he would call an inquest.

School Land Lease Sale Not Invalid

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds has been advised by the attorney general's office it doesn't have to invalidate a lease sale because a bidder has charged irregularities prior to the sale.

The charge was made by Frank Buckley, a lease holder in Garden County, who contended in an affidavit presented to the board that two men approached him before a bid sale Aug. 29 in Oshkosh and offered him a deal. Buckley said Leo Jensen and Jensen's father suggested they give Buckley $6,000 or visa versa so the other party wouldn't bid on the lease. Buckley's lease expires Dec. 31 and the board is currently reselling around 3,000 such leases for a 12-year period. Jensen, however, told the board a different story, claiming Buckley approached him with a money offer not to bid on the lease and later withdrew it.

Jensen submitted the highest bid for the land in question—$17,000. It was noted this was higher than most other bids for similar leases. Assistant Atty. Gen. Bernard Packett informed the board at its request that the Oshkosh sale should not be invalidated because of the complaint.

Packett said the board shouldn't call for new bids because it has a duty as trustee of the common school lands to obtain the highest bid. He suggested the final bid would be less than $17,000 if new bids were requested.

"If the letter and affidavit are correct it would seem that the board was very well compensated for the lease and that undoubtedly a new sale would result in a substantially lower bonus," the opinion said.

Packett also said the board has an established legal practice for post-sale bidding. State Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala had scored the board's practice of accepting bids for school land leases after the bid opening date. He charged this makes a mockery of a publicized date and is contrary to the intent of the Legislature.

Nebraskans Covered Well In Luxembourg Press

Clippings from Luxembourg newspapers sent by U.S. Ambassador William R. Rivkin shows that the recent visit there by a Nebraska delegation was given big coverage by the press.

The delegation, plumping for Nebraska tourism, is headed by the wife of Gov. Frank Morrison, who won compliments from the Luxembourg newsmen. But most attention in Luxembourg, as elsewhere the group has visited, went to Walter Hamilton, an Omaha Indian whose Indian name is "Chief Spotted Back."

"Hours Passed Quickly"

The occasion reported by the press was a reception for the Nebraska group at the American Embassy, at which, according to the newspaper Luxembourg Wort, "in happy conversation the hours passed much too quickly."

According to the paper Tageblatt, "The representatives of the state of Nebraska, led by the lovely wife of the governor, Mrs. Morrison, said one would wish to form bonds of tourism as well as of culture with Europe."

"After the extraordinarily pretty governor's wife, the Indian chief Spotted Back addressed the gathering," reported Tageblatt. "As was to be expected, he too put in a word for Nebraska."

In the story, headlined "What do you know of Nebraska?", Tageblatt commented on the crops grown here and recounted some of the history of the state.

Cities Listed

The Luxembourg Wort, after also giving the location of the state and listing some of its agricultural products, listed as "large cities" Omaha, Grand Island and North Platte.

Mentioned separately was Lincoln: "The capital, Lincoln, has a university and a beautiful museum."

Most of the papers used pictures, all of them including both Mrs. Morrison and Spotted Back.

French language paper, Tageblatt and the Luxembourg Wort both are German language papers. A from Nebraska received by the ambassador of the U.S. was the Indian Chief Spotted Back.

New County Zoning Rules Under Study

City-County Planning Commission members and Lancaster County Rural Advisory Committee members met with Commissioner William Grossman Tuesday to study the proposed revised zoning regulations for the county.

Planning Director Douglas Brogen explained the regulations outlined in resolution form in accordance with the Comprehensive Plan for Lincoln and Lancaster County.

The resolution contains definitions of certain zoning terms, regulations and restrictions of districts and boundaries thereof, regulations of the five districts into which the unincorporated portions of the county are divided, and various other land or area use regulations.

The board is expected to take action on the so-called "1962 Revised Zoning Resolution of Lancaster County" after the Planning Commission holds a public hearing which has not yet been set.

Cuban Water Supply Short

Havana (P) — City officials announced Tuesday Havana is getting only about half the water the population needs and called it a grave shortage.

The announcement blamed lack of rain and the bad condition of the mains. It was made to explain the city's now-chronic water shortage and the rationing which has gone on for some months.

The officials set Havana's water needs at 160 million gallons a day and added the city "is only being supplied with 130 million gallons of which, in reality, only 80 or 90 million gallons reach the population due to the bad condition of installations within the city."

RB57 Crashes, Burns Landing At Albuquerque

Albuquerque, N. M. (UPI)—A twin-engine RB57 jet Air Force bomber crashed and burned on Sandia Army Base in southeast Albuquerque Tuesday during an attempted landing. Both crew members were killed.

The victims were identified as Capt. Carl R. Laffoon, 31, of Stroud, Okla., the pilot, and Maj. Joseph M. Pair, 41, of Visalia, Calif., the observer.

An Air Force spokesman at Kirtland Air Force Base said the $600,000 plane, U. S. version of the now-outmoded British Canberra bomber, was landing at Kirtland, adjacent to Sandia.

Defense $$ Cleared By Senate Unit

Washington (AP) — Defense funds totaling $47.3 billion for the current fiscal year were voted Tuesday by the Senate Appropriations Committee, which added $298 million to the total the House had agreed on.

This is the biggest item in the national budget but is $1.6 billion below President Kennedy's estimates and $978 million under last year's total.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee who will manage the legislation on the Senate floor, predicted approval. He said defense needs will mount because of the limited nuclear test ban treaty the Senate is expected to ratify over his opposition.

On Credit

The money is for the year that began July 1. The big military establishment has been running on credit with congressional permission, as the appropriations measure ran into more than usual delay in Congress.

A major part of the reduction below last year's money outlay, Russell said, resulted from the shift of some $500 million for military housing to another bill.

A major change over house figures was restoration by the senators of $95 million of a $205-million-cut—3% across-the-board—by the House in research and development funds.

Needed

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had written Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., appropriations committee chairman, that a mobile mid-range ballistic missile designed to fire from railroad cars, trucks, ships or fixed sites is needed. So the Senate included $60 million in the research and development funds for this on top of $43.1 million voted by the House.

Hayden did not ask the full $100 million knocked out by the House because so much of the current fiscal year has passed.

Russell said the appropriations group eliminated a House provision which would have put a ceiling of $352.7 million on money which could be spent in privately owned shipyards for repair, alteration and conversion of Navy vessels. This was 35% of funds allowed for such purposes.

Make Floor

"Instead of a ceiling, we make this a floor," Russell said, meaning at least 35% must be spent in private shipyards unless the secretary of defense finds this inconsistent with the public interest.

Other actions Russell reported included these:

—No change in the House action which retained unspent funds to continue development of a new supersonic plane. This was first proposed at the B70, shifted to the RS70 when it was decided to make it a reconnaissance-strike plane and rechristened XB70 when it was decided to hold the program to three experimental prototypes.

—Retained $322 million to continue development of the controversial TFX warplane designed for joint use by the Air Force, Navy and Marines.

$96 Million

—Added $23 million to bring the total for military communications satellites to more than $96 million.

'Great Effort' Practice Exercise Set By LAFB

Lincoln Air Force Base will conduct a 12-hour practice wartime mission Sept. 24.

The exercise will be conducted under simulated enemy nuclear attack conditions. In announcing the "Great Effort" exercise, Base Commander Col. Frank W. Hansley said base sirens will be sounded to "warn" of various simulated wartime emergency situations. The entire exercise will be confined to the base. Col. Hansley said the base will be closed to the public except for emergency use during the 12 hours. Only the main gate will be used.

The base commissary sales store, exchange, service station, library, service clubs and cleaners will be closed.

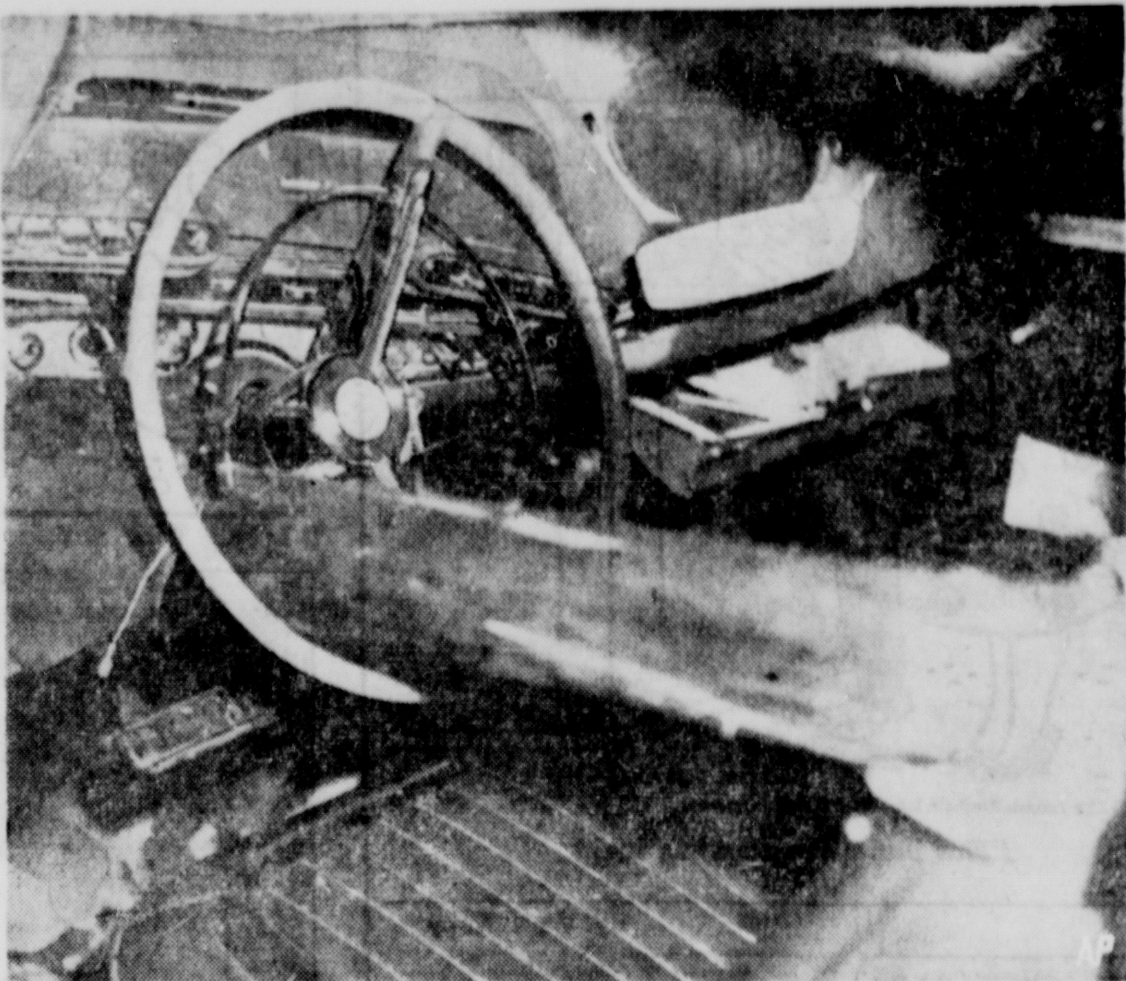

Dependents of military personnel living off base and civilians with base privileges will not be allowed on the base except for emergency reasons.

Col. Hansley asked that persons not assigned to or working at the base refrain from visiting during the exercise.

Svoboda Listed 'Fair' Following Deshler Accident

Listed in "fair" condition late Tuesday at Bryan Memorial Hospital was Bill B. Svoboda, 38, well known Hebron auctioneer, who was injured in a car-truck collision at a county road intersection two miles southwest of Deshler.

Svoboda was transferred to Lincoln from a Hebron hospital. The truck driver, Leslie Rowell, 24, of Pine Bluff, Ark., was treated at a Deshler hospital and released.

According to deputy Thayer County Sheriff Jim Johnson, Svoboda's eastbound auto collided with the north-bound truck-tractor, pulling a flatbed trailer loaded with 30,000 pounds of steel. Johnson said the road has been closed until the steel, dumped onto the road during the collision, can be moved, probably sometime Wednesday.

Morrison Plugs Farm Values At Superior

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Superior — Get 560 half-chickens and 560 whole men together and soon all you've got is talk.

The most significant of the latter came from Gov. Frank Morrison as the Superior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night hosted area farmers in a 15th annual get-together. The site was the City Auditorium.

"If farmers aren't businessmen today they're not going to be in the farm business very long," warned the governor after a half-round of handshakes.

The crying social and economic problems, which he said breed in concentrated populations, call for the "revitalization of life in rural areas." He noted such needs, however, as new employment and expanding crop uses.

"The finest place in the world to raise a family and enjoy life is the rural community," he continued, reminiscing of his own farm boyhood.

Swapped for the governor's counsel was crop talk—and it flowed across each table like water through a thirsty siphon tube. Much of this credited Nuckolls County irrigation, deep wells in the north and reservoir storage in the south, with a satisfying summer season.

"We can't complain about either farming or business," remarked farm manager Norris Hinton. "Growers aren't harvesting a barnburner like last year, but the situation is good and average all the way."

As Chamber president, he used a tour of the recently-expanded Ideal Cement Company to help resell the governor on Superior. Chamber Manager Vernon McBroom put in some other plugs for the city.

Continuing a custom of years, the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce-Wholesale Council charcoaled the chicken. Dean Wrightman is the chef's chairman.

Emphasis On Rehabilitation, Welfare Director Tells UCW

Lancaster County Welfare Director John Gage reviewed for the Lincoln United Churchwomen (UCW) the present emphasis on rehabilitation work with persons now on county assistance rolls.

Charges Planned In Fatal Crash

Omaha (P)—Dave Conrad, 30, Omaha, will be charged with motor vehicle homicide in the Saturday night death of Sylvester Bradford, deputy County Attorney James Moylan said Tuesday.

Police said a hit-run car sideswiped a parked car and then struck Bradford, who was standing in the street.

Accident investigator K. G. Miller traced a hubcap and paint scrapings to Conrad's car Monday night. Conrad told authorities he had been drinking but remembered the incident.

Aid to Dependent Children figures show a U.S. average of 39 out of every 1,000 children receiving ADC help, while only 15 out of every 1,000 Lancaster County children are receiving assistance. Gage noted the ADC figure for the county was as low as any statewide rate in the country.

Other speakers included Burt Galaway, case worker for the state foster care unit, and Arthur May, social group worker at the Nebraska Children's Home.

The group honored past presidents and charter executive board members at the anniversary meeting and adopted an annual budget of $3,651.

'That's 19 Of 22 They've Won,' Chortles The Lip

St. Louis (P) — "Well, it looks like we've cooled off the red-hot Cardinals. That's 19 of 22 they've won now, isn't it?"

First of the triumphant gang of happy Dodgers to troop into the Los Angeles clubhouse, Leo Durocher, the Lippy one, was in rare form. The Dodgers had just clipped the wings of the Redbirds, 4-0 behind the brilliant pitching of Sandy Koufax, widening their first-place lead to three games.

"I would say it's pretty good, pretty good," Durocher chortled. "With four games in front in the losing column I'd be willing to take my chances."

The Dodgers coach was referring, of course, to the World Series, two words which apparently are taboo as far as Manager Walter Alston and the Dodger players are concerned.

"It looks good, better than it did yesterday," said Alston in a much more sober mood than that of his first lieutenant.

Reminded that he had said the same thing after Monday's first game triumph over the Cards, Alston replied: "That's right, and I hope I can say the same thing after tomorrow's game."

A beaming Alston found words of praise for all his players but reserved most of the bouquets for Koufax, the brilliant southpaw, who set a flock of records in blanking the Cardinals on four hits.

"It was not my best game but my biggest," the handsome darkhaired pitcher told a horde of surrounding newsmen. "My fast ball and curve behaved excellently and I had good control."

Informed he had made only 87 pitches, Koufax opened his mouth wide in astonishment.

"You don't say," he exclaimed. "Why I don't believe I've ever pitched a game when I made under 100 pitches."

In contrast to the Dodger clubhouse, the atmosphere in the Cards' dressing room was sober and quiet.

Nobody had to tell the Cardinals they had their backs against the wall but still there was no talk of next season.

"We're still in it," insisted Manager Johnny Keane.

—AMHERST ON TOP— Eight-Man Ratings May Change Fast

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

When the smoke clears after the weekend's eight-man battles, there may be a lot of holes blasted in the opening ratings.

The three games which match top 10 clubs could shuffle the ratings quicker than a Las Vegas dealer.

Top-rated Amherst puts its rating on the line in a battle with sixth-rated Axtell.

Western, boasting a 12-game winning streak, has its No. 3 ranking challenged by high scoring Beaver Crossing, which landed on the eighth rung of the first chart.

The other early-season power struggle has Walthill (No. 7) going against 1961 champion Winnebago (No. 10).

Amherst vaulted into the top spot on the strength of its 26-6 win over Loomis.

Pushing for top honors is Palisade, which dumped 1962 champ Hayes Center, in the first week of play.

Three other high scoring teams — De Witt, Maywood and Odell — landed spots on the first chart.

SPORT SIGNALS

By Hal Brown
Sports Editor, The Star

Fans Wear Red, Foes Get Creamed

If the Extra Point Club's campaign is a success, Husker fans will be garbed in scarlet this fall and these fans will be asking that the NU gridders follow EPC President Charles Roach's advice and "cream the opposition" thus making it a definite Scarlet and Cream season.

On paper alone, the Huskers must be given a 9-1 season, excluding bowl games. But, unfortunately for the Huskers, games are not decided on paper.

Nebraska could easily fall to a 7-3 mark, but anything worse than that should call for a grand jury investigation. Only Oklahoma has a better team than the Huskers, but Kansas and Missouri are not far enough behind that they can be taken lightly.

Nebraska coach Bob Devaney has been concerned, and rightly so, over a complacency problem that has hit the Husker camp this fall. And the problem could become more acute as the season progresses.

The Husker schedule is tailor-made for an unbeaten record going into the Missouri game Nov. 2 and this date is followed by Kansas the next weekend.

It is a little hard to realize how the Huskers could go into the Missouri game with a complacent attitude since this is one game — Oklahoma is the other — where the NU squad should be egged on by a revenge motive after last year's showing against the Tigers and Sooners.

But if the Huskers should go into the Missouri battle with a 6-0 mark and feel that they can ride over the Tigers, it could be a rocky ride.

If the Scarlet and Cream can get by Missouri, they won't have any chance for a let-up with Jack Mitchell driving his Jayhawkers into Lincoln the next week with one object in mind—to avenge last year's humiliation at Lawrence.

Game-By-Game Rundown

Here's a look at the season game-by-game:
South Dakota State—Regardless of warning from Husker coaches that the Jackrabbits could surprise, the Huskers should handle the opener with ease.

Minnesota—This contest at Minneapolis could be a key game for the NU season record. Although the Gophers are inexperienced, they are a typical Big 10 club—tough. The Huskers should win, but also must come through without any key injuries, something that is always a threat when playing a Big 10 team.

Iowa State—Huskers won't get the quick start this year against Cyclones, but chalk up win No. 3.

Air Force Academy—The first real test for NU pass defense will come against the Falcons' Terry Isaacson here. Could be high-scoring affair, but Huskers will win.

Kansas State—Wildcats are still more like tame pussycats than Wildcats. No trouble in this one.

Colorado—Buffs have many problems that only some top recruiting by coach Eddie Crowley will solve and help can't come for a few years. Huskers will take 6-0 record into Missouri game.

Missouri—First end of frying pan-to-fire series for Huskers with Tigers one week, Kansas the next. If Huskers don't have enough ready-made incentive to win this one, something is lacking. Let's take the Huskers.

Kansas—One game that could sneak up on Nebraska with Jayhawks loaded for bear and Huskers somewhat down after win over Missouri. Could be toughest game with exception of Oklahoma, but let's take NU.

Oklahoma State—A welcome point on schedule where Huskers should be able to catch breath for decisive battle against Oklahoma the following week. Make the Huskers 9-0 after this one.

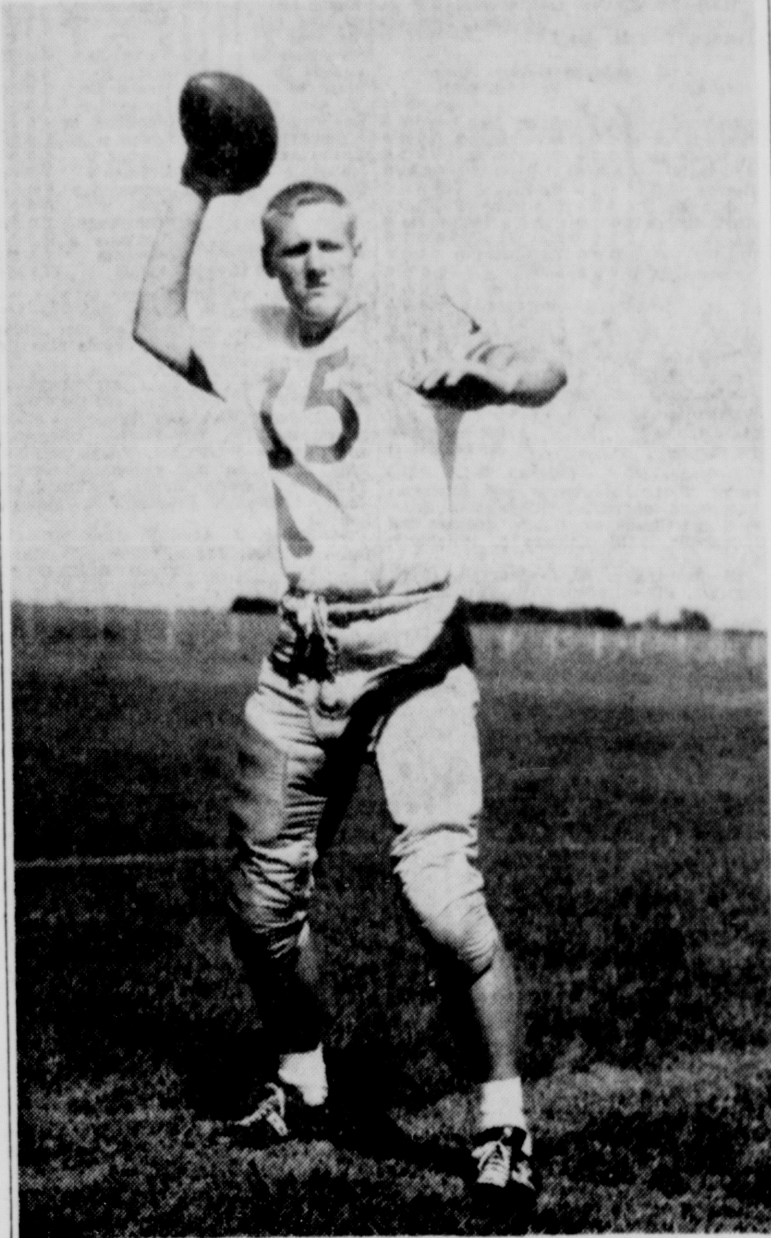

Oklahoma—Ticket scalpers could have a field day here. Game should be played not only for Big Eight crown and trip to Orange Bowl but also for high spot in national rankings. Disregarding OU coach Bud Wilkinson's moanings that good sophomores don't have good seasons as juniors, Sooners should hand Huskers first loss.

Take Your Pick Of Bowls

That's it. If Huskers don't go to Orange Bowl via win over Oklahoma, then your guess is as good as your neighbors as to which bowl the Scarlet and Cream will take.

But a 9-1 record would assure them of a bowl bid. An 8-2 mark could bring an invitation, but 7-3 and you might as well make reservations for the Big Eight Basketball Tournament at Kansas City.

Only sure thing as season opens Saturday is that Huskers won't play in Gotham Bowl.

JACKS' QUARTERBACK . . . Doug Peterson, 174-pound senior, will guide the South Dakota State attack Saturday.

Husker Coach Unhappy With Scrimmage Films

. . . PLAYER CHANGES MADE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

An unhappy Bob Devaney ordered a controlled scrimmage for his Husker gridders Tuesday after several days of what the NU mentor termed, "unsatisfactory practice sessions."

Devaney said the scrimmage would probably be the last before the opener with South Dakota State Saturday.

"We hadn't planned on having this one," he noted. "But the way our practice sessions have been going, I would just as soon take the chance on getting someone hurt as to see them standing around."

The Husker coach said the decision for the scrimmage was made after viewing movies of last Saturday's full-game scrimmage. "We were very disgusted with what we saw in the movies," Devaney remarked.

The controlled scrimmage session Tuesday was accompanied by several promotions and demonstrations among squad members.

"Larry (Tomlinson) just hasn't been playing up to his capabilities," Devaney said in announcing the shuffling at left end.

In another move involving the No. 1 unit, Larry Kramer returned to the top spot at

LCC To Honor Williamson Today

Bud Williamson, club professional at the Lincoln Country Club, will be honored today for his 20 years at LCC.

Lincoln Country Club members have slated the day to pay tribute to the 51-year-old golf professional who gave up a promising career as a touring pro to take the LCC post.

Activities will be under way at 11 a.m. today when LCC members will begin teeing off in an attempt to beat Bud as they match their scores for 18 holes with a round shot by Williamson.

Southpaw Sets Shutout Mark

. . . HOWARD HOMERS FOR LA

By Associated Press

Sandy Koufax pitched another masterpiece Tuesday night, fouting the Los Angeles Dodgers further ahead in their dramatic National League pennant battle with St. Louis.

The brilliant left-hander posted a four-hit, 4-0 victory over the Cardinals that sent the Dodgers three games in front and made him the first southpaw in major league history to register 11 shutouts in a season.

Koufax, winner of 24 against only five losses, set the Cards down without a hit until Stan Musial led off with a single in the seventh inning. The Dodgers struck for a run in the opening inning against Curt Simmons on Maury Wills' single and steal of second, followed by Jim Gilliam's double.

Koufax had to protect that slender margin through seven innings, but Frank Howard gave him more room with a two-run homer in the eighth and the Dodgers added another run in the ninth.

The Dodgers go for a sweep of the key three-game series Wednesday night. They have nine games left after that, all at home, while the Cards will have seven remaining, three at home and four on the road.

Also in the NL—the San Francisco Giants ruled Warren Spahn Night in Milwaukee, knocking out the great southpaw early and handing the Braves their eighth straight loss, 11-3; Johnny Callison rapped two homers and two singles as Philadelphia outslugged the New York Mets 8-6; Bob Skinner's eighth-inning homer gave Cincinnati a 4-3 decision over Houston; and Chicago split with Pittsburgh, the Cubs taking the opener 3-1 and the Pirates winning the second game 4-3.

Cleveland nipped New York's Yankee League champion Yankees 3-2 in 10 innings, with Max Alvis stealing third and scoring the winning run on a throwing error by reliever Stan Williams.

In other AL action—the Chicago White Sox tightened their grip on second place, beating Boston 2-1 on a two-run double by Joe Cunningham in the fifth; Earl Battey's two-run homer in the

THE WORDS STAND SOLIDLY FOR KESSLER

South Dakota Wants Action

... ON FISHING DISPUTE

Yankton, S.D. (UPI)—South Dakota Atty. Gen. Frank L. Farrar said here Tuesday South Dakota is prepared to take the fishing war over Gavins Point Dam waters to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Farrar met with the State Game, Fish and Parks Commission on an "inspection field trip" in the Yankton area Tuesday morning.

Farrar said he advised the commission of its legal rights in the dispute.

"We are prepared to establish a boundary line for hunting and fishing a few hundred miles west of the line set by (Nebraska Game Commission Director Mel) Steen," Farrar said. "The line could be enforced by the commission if they choose or they can take it to court. We (the attorney general's office) are prepared to fix the line or litigate it."

"We are prepared to settle the boundary between the two states any time they want to and we are prepared to bring suit in the U.S. Supreme Court to settle the boundary."

Farrar estimated the cost of the suit at between $20,000 and $50,000 and said it was up to either the commission or the state legislature to decide whether the suit would be initiated.

The Nebraska Legislature exploded a boundary agreement reached between the two states when it denounced last spring the portion of the tentative border settlement which involved reciprocal hunting and fishing rights in the contested area.

The agreement would have placed the border between the two states down the middle of the Missouri River and provided for reciprocal fishing and hunting rights in the area between the two states. The agreement was reached in an Omaha meeting between the boundary commissioners from both states, Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison and South Dakota Gov. Archie Gubbrud.

The Nebraska Unicameral's resolution said the boundary commission had no authority to make any agreements involving fishing rights and that "a boundary agreement seeking to regulate fishing rights, or containing provisions not related to establishing a boundary between the two states, is totally unacceptable and would be rejected."

The war between the states was sparked by South Dakota's decision to prohibit non-residents from hunting migratory waterfowl in the state. Steen retaliated and added fuel to the fire by threatening to arrest any South Dakotans fishing in the Gavins Point tailwaters without a Nebraska license.

Steen is in Europe on a tourist promotion mission and was unavailable for comment.

Scoring Spree Earns Harding Player Award

Jon Harding obviously isn't the only talented football player on the Mullen Broncos roster, but opponents of this Hooker County club are convinced that he's as good as they'll face during the course of the season.

Harding earned the second Sunday Journal and Star Player of the Week Award for his five-touchdown spree against Callaway.

The 165-pound senior was a real workhorse in the 37-0 victory. He carried the ball 26 times and contributed 218 yards to the Mullen attack.

Coach Dick Boness regards his talented back as a top-notch defensive performer as well. The Broncos haven't given up a point in two games.

In his junior season Harding averaged over nine yards per carry in 127 attempts.

Jon and the following prep performers will receive recognition for their second week play:

Norm Geiken, Gothenburg — Pass interception on own five-yard line helped preserve 13-12 win over McCook.

Roger Nitsch, Hayes Center — Scored on runs of 39, 70, 69 and 39 yards as defending eight-man champs walloped Indianola.

Robert Schmer, Wahoo — One of stalwarts on defense as Wahoo held Seward to a net of 11 yards on offense.

Doug Plank, Franklin — Junior halfback scored on 26 and 61-yard runs and was a defensive standout as Franklin blanked O'Neill.

Dave Babbitt, Amherst — Scored twice, passed for another tally as Amherst snapped the Loomis victory string at 18 games.

Dave Macken, Platte Center — Junior scored three times, accumulated 272 yards as Platte Center bombed Gresham, 31-12.

Lance Spellmeyer, Sumner — Scored five touchdowns as Sumner routed Elm Creek, 55-14.

Dan Dowling, Ogallala — Signal caller got Ogallala offense untracked late in first half, led team to 30-0 decision over Cozad.

Marvin Jirovsky, Humboldt — All-around excellence has been the big factor in changing Humboldt's football fortunes. Win over Wymore was second straight after 30 consecutive losses.

Alaskan Wolves, Coyotes Protected By Laws

... ESKIMOS DON'T APPRECIATE ABANDONED SEALS, EITHER

Juneau, Alaska (P) — Killing a wolf in Alaska can bring you a bounty of $50 or trouble; a coyote $35 or ditto. The wolverine is a pest worth $15 in bounty money in the summer but becomes a fur animal with a hide you can sell for $17.50 or more in the winter.

You can cut off the nose of a hair seal for a $3 bounty but if you abandon the rest of the beast you will be very unpopular with Alaska's Indians and Eskimos. The wolf, a vicious killer in the legends and beliefs of most of the world, has state protection in parts of Alaska. So does the coyote, and for the same reason.

Caribou in the Nelchina area south of Fairbanks number about 70,000. Although their range covers about 10,000 square miles, the natural increase in caribou could overpopulate the area, taxing the food supply. Malnutrition in the herds makes them more susceptible to disease, say the State Fish and Game

Kill Three Apiece Human hunters are permitted to kill three caribou each from the herd in a season, but the hunter has two faults. He doesn't kill enough to match the natural increase and those he kills are the biggest and healthiest.

The wolf and coyote pull down the weak, the laggards and the ill, helping keep the herd population level and healthy. So in the Nelchina area the caribou is fair game but the wolf and coyote are taboo targets.

Hair seals, fond of fish, are considered predators on coastal Alaska, where the salmon fishery is a major industry. To the Alaska native, who may have been the true originator of the "waste not, want not" adage, the hair seal is a valuable source of food and clothing.

Surprise Told that a German firm has developed a lucrative trade in making parkas of hair seal pelts for the ski fashion market, one native said: "Huh; we've been using the skins for parkas for centuries."

Natives don't object when bounty hunters cut off seal noses if the kill is reported so the rest of the animal can be salvaged.

Any needless killing irks the natives, who are not without voice in state government. State Sen. Eben Hobson, an Eskimo from Point Barrow, introduced a bill in the 1962 legislature to boost the hunting permit price on polar bear from $150 to $1,500 each.

"My people were finding too many polar bears washing up on shore, punctured with bullet holes. We could only surmise that hunters were shooting first and investigating later to see if they had a trophy bear. If not, they abandoned the carcass and saved their permit for a bigger animal," said Hobson.

"The bill created a stir and I withdrew it before it went to the House of Representatives, knowing it had accomplished its purpose of bringing the problem to public attention."

Trading 'Award' Goes To Cards

... GROAT TOP PRIZE

By STEVE SNIDER
New York (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals are a pinch to win at least one "championship" this season—player trader of the year.

That's general manager Bing Devine, who gambled and won on a deal that brought shortstop Dick Groat from the Pittsburgh Pirates last Nov. 19.

Bing also gambled by paying a high price to the Chicago Cubs for outfielder George Altman and he still may win big on that one. In a lesser move June 15, he picked up aging Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette, who has contributed to the current Cardinal drive.

Some observers feel the Cardinal front office staff, including Eddie Stanky, may have done some whispering in Bing's ear to touch off the key trades but Bing is captain of the ship no matter what. He makes the decisions and has to ride or fall with them.

Out of dozens of deals that enlivened the off-season, the swap for Groat was far and away the most significant to the 1963 pennant races.

Stu and Lamabe The Boston Red Sox won on a deal with the Pirates for slugging Dick Stuart and pitcher Jack Lamabe and the Chicago White Sox apparently will wind up winners in the long run on a deal with Baltimore including several veterans plus rookie third baseman Pete Ward.

But those deals couldn't stem the New York Yankee tide in the American League race and the Cardinals may have gained enough to steal the National League pennant from the favored Los Angeles Dodgers.

At the end of '62, when the Cards flopped to sixth place, they had urgent need for a shortstop and another outfielder.

They got the shortstop (Groat) from Pittsburgh along with relief pitcher Diomedes Olivo for infielder Julio Gotay and pitcher Don Cardwell. Gotay and Olivo both wound up in the minors. Cardwell had a 13-15 record for Pittsburgh on Sept. 14.

Bat Leader Groat? He shot into the lead in the batting race right at the start and has been up there almost every day since. He shored up the St. Looney infield that had leaked badly for quite a spell.

"Groat may not be the most sensational fielder in the business," says manager Johnny Keane, "but he doesn't give away ball games, either. Until he got here, we gave away plenty."

To land Altman and Cardwell last Oct. 17, the Cards had to surrender pitchers Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel. Jackson has lost more than he won but McDaniel's 12-6 relief record by Sept. 15 is something the Cards probably would like to have on their side.

Altman Improving However, Altman is a solid ball player and recently has been coming fast after a disappointing show in the first three-quarters of the season. Neither his average nor his homer output is anywhere near his last two seasons at Chicago but he still can be dangerous down these final days.

The Red Sox are getting great mileage out of ex-Pirates Stuart, who has been leading the American League in home runs and runs-batted-in, and Lamabe. The players they gave up—pitcher Don Schwall and catcher Jojo Pagliaroni—haven't helped Pittsburgh.

Best outright purchase of the year was by the Houston Colts, who picked up Don Nottebart from Milwaukee for cash. Don has one of the year's three no-hitters and pushed his record with a ninth place team to 10-7 on Sept. 13.

But for significant trades for '63, Bing Devine rates the bows.

Want To Buy A Buffalo? $270 For Frozen Model

Would you like to buy a buffalo? All you need is $165 and plenty of roaming room. Of course, if you happen to be city folks, space could be a problem. In that case, how about $270 for a frozen bison for your freezer... a very big freezer.

According to the Game Commission, Sept. 30 will be the deadline to put in your bid for the U.S. Department of Interior's annual surplus big-game disposal sales.

Each year herds are thinned out at each of three national wildlife refuges: Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge at Valentine, National Bison Range at Moiese, Mont., and Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge at Cache, Okla.

There are 250 buffalo, 50 elk, and 117 longhorn cattle scheduled to be sold this year. A butchered elk goes for $110 to $145, depending upon processing; half is the minimum quantity. No live elk are available.

Longhorns will be sold only at public auction. Auction dates are Oct. 8 at Fort Niobrara and Sept. 19 at Wichita. Drawings will be held in the event demand exceeds supply.

Additional information may be obtained from the refuges or from the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of Interior, Washington, D.C., 20240. Bids should also be sent there.

Houston Without Frazier's Services

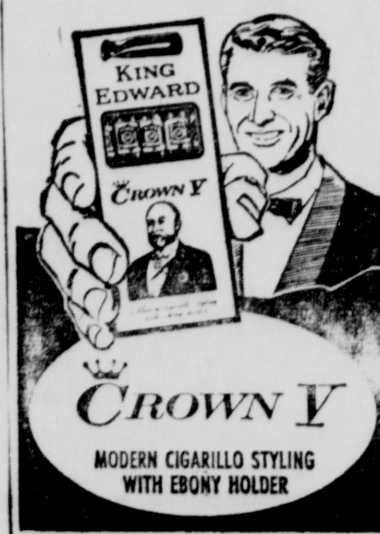

Houston (P) — The Houston Oilers will be without the services of Charley Frazier Sunday when they meet the New York Jets in an American Football League game in New York.

Frazier, a flanker back from Texas Southern University, dislocated the third finger of his right hand in Houston's 20-14 victory over Denver last week and is expected to be out two or three weeks.

—TRY TO PACIFY FOE—

Treaty Gets New Support

Washington (AP)—Sens. Alan Bible, D-Nev., and Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., swung from the undecided list to support of the limited nuclear test ban treaty Tuesday as a move was started to pacify one of the most potent foes.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., told the Senate there is a possibility he and treaty backers can agree on satisfactory modified language to make sure any future amendment to the pact will be submitted to the Senate for ratification.

Declarations first by Ervin and then by Bible that they will vote for the treaty reduced to eight the number still undecided or who have not made their views known publicly.

79 Committed

This raised to 79 the number of senators committed or inclined to vote for ratification of the pact to ban all nuclear tests in the atmosphere, underwater and in outer space. If all 100 senators vote it would require 67 senators to roll up the necessary two-thirds majority.

Ervin said he reached his decision with great soul-searching. Bible told the Senate the treaty is a "small step toward controlling the threat of nuclear war," and "we cannot afford to walk the avenue of disaster."

Russell, one of the 13 declared opponents of the treaty, was joined by Sens. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., and Russell B. Long, D-La., in new denunciations of the pact. In comparison to the sparse attendance for most of the treaty debate, the audience swelled to a couple of dozen when Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, took the floor.

First Step

"I will not take this first step down the road to disarmament without any pretense of inspection," Russell told his colleagues. He said it would be "the height of folly" unless there is agreement for "on-site inspections, adequate in number and scope."

Ratification of the treaty, he said, "can start us down the road to destruction."

Democratic and Republican Senate leaders have been trying to avoid any amendments to the resolution of ratification. But they faced the biggest probability of a floor fight in one demanded by Russell to make sure no president ever accepts an amendment to the treaty without submitting it to the Senate for ratification.

President Kennedy has declared this is something a president must do and that "Russell's move is unnecessary. But Russell wants it spelled out to bind any future chief executive."

Senate leaders told newsmen some senators are reluctant to accept Russell's proposal as offered but also are reluctant to vote against him on the issue.

"We are discussing the matter," Russell said. "I hope that we shall be able to arrive at some agreement. I have some reason to believe that we will, though not in the exact terms I offered. It is very seldom that one gets exactly what he starts out seeking in the Senate."

Understanding

Russell's proposal would make ratification "subject to the understanding, which is hereby made a part and condition of the resolution of ratification, that any amendment to this treaty shall be submitted to the Senate for its advice and consent, as in the case of the treaty itself."

Bible, in endorsing the pact, said that in view of previous Soviet "bad faith," the treaty cannot be based on trust. He added: "It is ironic but all too true that we must travel the road to peace carefully."

Thurmond, who has been making almost daily attacks on the treaty, made a formal speech saying he is convinced the pact "is a trap."

"This is a first step to a disarmament program," Thurmond said. "And that is exactly what Mr. Khrushchev wants. He wants us to disarm. But just see if the Communists disarm... if we disarm, God knows we are lost."

Unit Nails 4 More Sections Into Civil Rights Bill

Washington (AP)—The House Civil Rights Subcommittee nailed four more sections into the administration's civil rights bill Tuesday, leaving only the controversial public accommodations provision awaiting initial approval.

Subcommittee Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said it will be taken up Wednesday.

In a sudden burst of activity after weeks of deliberation, the subcommittee agreed in substance on provisions designed to protect Negro voting rights, speed school desegregation, improve Negro job opportunities and end racial discrimination in federally aided programs.

The latter would authorize the president to withhold funds from programs in which states practice discrimination.

All actions, as well as that on two sections approved last week, are subject to change on a final showdown vote.

The provisions for cutting off funds for programs in which discrimination is practiced and for improving Negro job opportunities were approved at an afternoon session. The other two proposals were acted on during the morning.

During the hearings on the bill civil rights advocates called the fund-withholding provision in the bill one of the most powerful weapons that could be given the president.

As approved today the section would authorize the head of any federal agency providing grants to the states to cut off funds for any program in which it could be shown discrimination was practiced.

The subcommittee ignored demands of some civil rights leaders that the cut-off be made mandatory and left it to the discretion of the department head.

It also wrote in a provision for judicial review of the action.

The job opportunity section would write into law the commission established by presidential action to ban racial discrimination on federal contracts. The commission would be headed by the vice president and include the secretary of labor among its 15 members.

A proposal to create a federal fair employment practices commission probably will be offered as an addition for this section when the subcommittee takes its final votes on the bill, Celler said.

Tuesday's actions raised to six the number of sections given conditional approval in the seven-part bill.

The provisions approved last week would grant permanent status to the civil rights commission and establish a community relations service to help settle racial disputes.

Doctor Optimistic About Dakota Quints

Aberdeen, S.D. (P) — The Fischer quintuplets are doing well on their teaspoonsful of formula, two have gained a little strength and their doctor remained optimistic for all five Tuesday.

Dr. James Berbos, 40, the Aberdeen native who delivered the tiny babies last Saturday, said he is even more optimistic than Monday but said he wasn't able to quote any precise odds on their survival.

"I'm no poker player so I don't know anything about odds," said Dr. Berbos in his daily meeting with newsmen.

Mrs. Andrew Fischer, 30, the quint's mother, will be going home later this week, said the doctor.

Gifts Over $75,000

Meanwhile, the value of gifts sent to the Fischers mounted beyond the $75,000 mark and the Internal Revenue Service said it is keeping an eye on the whole affair.

The quint's get five cubic centimeters of artificial milk formula every two hours, plus one C.C. of sterile water to flush out the plastic tubes through which they are fed.

Hospital attendants planned to leave the tubes in the babies about a week at a time. Small pieces of tape hold the tubes in place.

Dr. Berbos said it likely will be about two weeks before the quint's develop a strong enough sucking reflex to handle a nipple and bottle.

Nurses feed one baby at a time and it takes about 15 minutes, so the two-hour schedule is an almost continuous process in the nursery of St. Luke's Hospital.

Dr. Berbos said two girls—the first and last born—gained strength and are now as active as the other two girls and boy.

Steady Improvement

Dr. Berbos was asked if passage of the babies' first 72 hours of life made him feel better—he had once called this the critical period.

"No, but I feel better because they are steadily improving. I'd say their chances are good," he said.

He said tiny mittens have been put on the babies to keep them from pawing and dislodging the feeding tubes. They sleep more than half the time, normal for their size and age.

The Fischer quint's may be weighed Wednesday, Dr. Berbos said. Their weight has been estimated at two to four pounds and their length about 12 inches. Doctors prefer to handle them as little as possible.

Bosch Visit Ends

Mexico City (P) — President Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic ended his three-day official visit to Mexico.

HUSBANDLY KISS . . . for Mrs. Fischer.

Mother 'Very Happy; It Was Like A Dream'

Aberdeen, S.D. (P) — Mrs. Andrew Fischer met newsmen for the first time Wednesday night, and said she would rather have her quintuplets all over again than go through the ordeal of a news conference.

"I told them upstairs I'd rather go into the delivery room again than come down here," she said.

The 30-year-old redhead told some 30 reporters and photographers at a news conference called in the cafeteria of St. Luke's Hospital that she was "very happy" about the birth early Saturday of four girls and a boy.

'Like A Dream'

"It's like a dream," she said with a nervous smile.

Mrs. Fischer said she was concerned about her other five children at home as well as the tiny quint's, resting in the hospital's third floor nursery.

"I'm sure they are lonely," she said of the four daughters and son at home.

She Feels Good

The now-famous mother said she was not sure when she would leave the hospital but that she feels good. Hospital officials have indicated she would go home late this week, but it may be about two months before the infants are released.

Asked how she would handle five babies and five other children, Mrs. Fischer shrugged and said simply, "That's a lot to think about."

She told newsmen that her five older children were "real tickled" about having five new playmates.

Anti-Diem War Protesters Regime With Own Blood

Paris (AP) — Kneeling in the warm sunshine, a man pierced his chest with a dagger Tuesday and wrote a letter in his own blood protesting the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in South Vietnam.

A crowd of about 300 persons, many carrying anti-Diem banners, watched as Nguyen Thang Thoi wrote the letter which was forwarded to the United Nations.

A spokesman said the demonstration was formed by a committee organizing all Vietnamese opposed to the Diem government. The spokesman said the demonstration was timed to coincide with the opening of the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

Buddhist Follower
"I have described myself as 'a layman who is a follower of the Buddhist teaching.'"

A box on the table. Without a changing expression, he sliced his chest until blood flowed freely from a one-inch gash. An aide collected the blood in a small silver cup.

Large Characters
After sitting quietly in a position of prayer for several moments, Thai began to write. He wrote with a brush, making large characters in the Vietnamese language from the blood in the cup. This is what he wrote:

"To the Secretary General of the United Nations:
"To all Delegates:
"In the name of the Vietnamese people, we denounce the crimes committed by the Ngo Dinh Diem government and demand an outright condemnation of the violation of human rights in South Vietnam."
"Long live universal brotherhood."

Third Nebraska Nursing Home Group Plans Fall Training

Plans for November workshops were discussed Tuesday by members of the Nebraska Nursing Home Association.

The training sessions in the care of incontinent patients will be held Nov. 4 in Lincoln, Nov. 5 in Grand Island, and Nov. 7 in Scottsbluff.

The group also discussed the national formation of an American College of Nursing Home Administrators aimed at upgrading and recognizing professional status of the administrators.

A $5,051.58 claim for wages and liquidated damages against Kenneth B. Kaar, doing business as Kaar Service at 1821 N., was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

Plaintiffs Gordon Gell, Willard Wallace and Roy Patton allege Kaar is engaged in interstate commerce and failed to compensate them as employees at the time and work for over a 40-hour week under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Hundreds Pay Silent Tribute To Dead Birmingham Negro Girl

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Hundreds of persons paid silent tribute Tuesday to the memory of a 14-year-old Negro girl who died during Sunday school with three others when a bomb blasted their church.

Afghan Royalty Make Hour Stop

Madrid, Spain (AP)—King Mohammed Zahir Shah of Afghanistan and his queen made an hour-long refueling stop at the U.S.-Spanish air base at Torrejon, near Madrid, Tuesday, en route to Kabul from their official visit to the United States.

Landing aboard President Kennedy's personal jet, the royal couple was received by representatives of Gen. Francisco Franco and U.S. Ambassador Robert Woodward.

Hushed mourners — most Negro, some white persons — crowded into St. John A.M.E. Church for the funeral service for Carole Robertson. An estimated 1,000 persons stood in the streets for a block around.

The theme of the service was mourning, non-violence and perseverance.

"The greatest tribute you can pay to Carole is to be calm, be lovely, be kind, be innocent," said the Rev. C. E. Thomas, pastor of the church which is only two blocks from the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church where the fatal bombing occurred. Later he urged that everyone "keep cool heads."

A funeral service for the other three victims will be held Wednesday. They were Denise McNair, 11, and Addie Mae Collins and Cynthia Wesley, both 14.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and the city council sent telegrams to the parents of the children expressing "profound sorrow."

About 40 white persons, including several clergymen and city councilman Allen Drennan and his family, listened to the services inside the church, two blocks from the building blasted by the bomb. The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, an integration leader, told the family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Curtis Robertson Sr. and their son and daughter: "You by your loss have paid another precious installment on that great thing called freedom."

He spoke for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who he said had a conflict in schedules and could not attend. After the audience filed quietly out of the church, a 100-car procession followed the hearse to a cemetery. There the girl's body was buried on a hillside among a few cedar trees.

Earlier Shuttlesworth had told newsmen he did not anticipate demonstrations at Tuesday's funeral service or at the joint one Wednesday for the other three girls—an event drawing Negro leaders from around the country.

"We've already served notice that if anybody gets in trouble on his own, he stays in jail on his," said Shuttlesworth, who heads the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights. He and other integration leaders have been urging Negroes to refrain from violence or disorder in retaliation for the bombing which was followed by shootings that left two more Negro teen-agers dead.

Meanwhile, two white youths were jailed and faced murder charges in the Sunday slaying of a Negro boy, and attendance at an integrated school indicated a white boycott was losing steam. Sheriff Melvin Bailey said Michael Lee Farley and Larry Joe Sims, both 16-year-old high school students, were charged with murder in the death of Vigil Ware, a 13-year-old Negro.

CHARGE TWO WHITE EAGLE SCOUTS WITH MURDER

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—Two clean-cut white teen-agers, both Eagle Scouts, were charged with first-degree murder Tuesday in the pistol slaying of a young Negro boy.

Sheriff Melvin Bailey of Jefferson County said that he had come up "with nothing that provoked" the shooting. The victim, Virgil Ware, 13, was shot to death on a bicycle in suburban Sunday, a few hours after four girls were killed by a dynamite bomb which virtually destroyed a church Sunday.

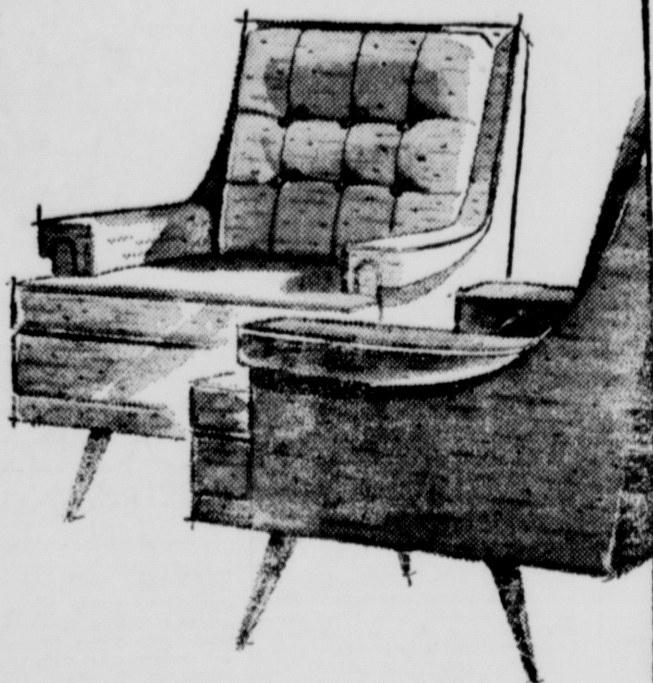

Ware and his brother at an intersection. Without a word, shots were fired. L. D. W. Orange of the sheriff's department said that both boys admitted the shooting in a signed statement. "They didn't give any reason," Orange said. "They were very emotional and cried a lot."

The youths were identified as Michael Lee Farley, 16, son of an Alabama Power Co. employee, and Larry Joe Sims, 16, whose father works for a department store. A neighbor said both boys had good reputations and described Sims as a "model boy."

Sims, a tall, 125-pound blond, was life guard at a private pool this summer. Farley, described as highly intelligent, is short, stocky and dark haired. Both had attended Sunday school before the shooting. They are scheduled for a preliminary hearing at 2 p.m. Friday in Jefferson County Criminal Court.
